No new principal

The search is over

by Ann Marie Casey

They began the search with 18 candidates, cut that number to four, narrowed it again to two, were left with one and then didn't name a new principal for Wilmington High School.

At last Wednesday's school committee meeting, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell announced that she will postpone the principal search until early spring, possibly February at the earliest.

The eight-member search committee, led by Director of Administration and Finance for Wilmington Schools Peter Rock, narrowed the search to two semi-finalists two weeks ago. But Robert Gillis, of Gardner, Ma., withdrew his application for the position before an interview could be set up with O'Donnell, the person ultimately charged with appointing a new principal.

With just one candidate remaining, O'Donnell decided to postpone the search, readvertise and hopefully attract more candidates, rather than what would have amounted to choosing the new high school principal by default.

With that, the interviewing process set up by the search committee has come to a screeching halt. O'Donnell's comments last Wednesday on the process reflected much disappointment.

"From the start, I've been very concerned about the process. Only 18 applications for such an important job?" O'Donnell stated. "It's unfortunate that we only had four people to look at. The search committee with its wisdom decided that it wasn't worth interviewing more than four [of the] people."

O'Donnell said that advertising the position near the close of a school year should generate more applications than a search at the start of the school year, when potential candidates tend to be settled. Of the 18 applications, none were from Wilmington residents or Wilmington School System employees.

The decision to postpone the search stemmed from O'Donnell's meeting with the search committee last Wednesday and Gillis' withdrawal later that same day.

At the ensuing committee meeting, O'Donnell received pointed comments from three committee members, who expressed their concerns about the manner in which the principal search was conducted.

From the very beginning of the search, the process was outlined in such a way that the chosen candidates would have initial contact solely with the search committee members - not school committee members. The search committee is comprised of Rock, three parents, three teachers and a WHS junior.

After the search committee had made its assessments, it was then that a public hearing open to all concerned Wilmington residents (including school committee members) would be scheduled. Although the process never made it to that phase, three school committee members voiced their objection to being excluded from the process before the public hearing.

Committee members Robert Young, James Demos, and Judson Miller told O'Donnell that they had tried to attend a search committee meeting with the candidates held prior to the list of candidates being narrowed. Young, Demos and Miller stated that they had been informed of the meeting through an issued schedule, and nowhere did it state that they were not to attend. However, upon their arrival to the meeting, each member was asked to leave due to the fact that their presence could be considered "intimidating" to the candidates.

"I went to the meeting to sit in and view the candidates. I was tremendously embarrassed. Here I am, Bob Young, pulled out in the hall and told that Superintendent O'Donnell would be very disappointed that [I was there]," said Young. "I guess I got my hand slapped."

Dr. Demos concurred with Mr. Young's statements.

"I won't get to meet [the candidates] until a public forum. I feel that I'm not even equipped to even vote at that point," said Demos. "I'm wondering if anyone wants to run for this committee, because I certainly have no intention of running again. All my training, all my degrees, but yet, I can't use it on this committee."

Young continued the attack on Superintendent O'Donnell's search policy.

"My ability to be confidential is questioned. I need to know if this is going to be procedure," Young told O'Donnell. "If that's going to be your style, then just come out and say it."

O'Donnell responded to all questioning of her search process, stating that her reason for not including school committee members or any other members of the public in the initial screening was that she wanted to protect the professional standing of the applicants. She stated that exposure to the public "could be detrimental to the semi-finalists."

The meeting adjourned with an addition to the agenda for the next school committee meeting, slated for Nov. 29. Young proposed that the committee revisit the principal search policy in order to revise committee member participation. O'Donnell indicated Monday that the search procedure would likely be on the Nov. 29 agenda.

Currently, Assistant Principal Edward Woods is acting principal at Wilmington High School and will remain in that capacity until a permanent principal is hired.

"Mr. Woods is being extremely supportive," said O'Donnell.

Dr. O'Donnell plans to readvertise the position and begin the process again. Though the search has been temporarily delayed, the process will still be actively debated.

Town liquor hearing set

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington Board of Selectmen will hold a public hearing to entertain discussion on changes proposed by local restaurateur Rocco DePasquale to liquor laws pertaining to restaurants.

The board voted 3-2, with Selectmen Diane Allan and Dan Wandell opposing, in favor of a motion made by Selectman Jim Rooney to hold the public hearing at 9:00 at the board's next meeting, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 27.

The motion was made Monday after the board received a review of the town's liquor laws by Town Counsel Alan Altman. After Rocco approached the board with his proposed changes in September, Allan said she wanted to get a ruling from Altman as to whether or not the board could change the laws without a town meeting vote.

Altman's verdict was that, yes, the board could make the changes as long as they are "reasonable as they apply to the exercise of the license."

"It is also my opinion that no further vote on the ballot is required. ..." Altman wrote the board.

Rocco wishes to change the law prohibiting restaurants with liquor licenses from serving patrons directly from a bar. He also wants to alter the mandate that says full dinners must be available during hours alcohol is sold.

Santa Cause coming to town

by Jeff Nazzaro

Jim Murray is at it again, this time with the Santa Cause, a fun way to help the Toys for Tots program through the Wilmington Fire Fighters Local and the Wilmington Food Pantry, while getting a leg up on fulfilling the Christmas wishes of Wilmington boys and girls, young and old, naughty or nice.

For a donation of new toy for Toys for Tots, or at minimum $2.50 for the Wilmington Food Pantry, kids of any age (for instance: your boss, wife or neighbor) can get a personalized letter from the Jolly Old Elf, signed, sealed and delivered from the North Pole.

"How can I make this something fun and a way for you to get something back for your donation?" Murray asked himself.

Enter the Santa Cause. Any resident can bring a wish letter to Santa to any of a number of "Santa Centers" in Wilmington or Tewksbury. These will be businesses dressed up for the holidays and ready to take your letter and donation. In return, Santa himself will write back.

Santa Centers include Fred F. Cain Chrysler Plymouth, Souper Deli, Petals and Lace, Robert's Carpets, Cellular & Security Connection, Aubuchon Hardware, Wolfe Real Estate and the Town Crier. Or, by writing directly to Santa Claus, the North Pole, 25 Lowell St., Wilmington, MA 01887.

Toys must be new and, if wrapped, marked for an approximate age group and if it is for a girl, boy, or either. Checks should be made out to "Santa Claus." If you would like to "E-Mail" Santa, the Santa Cause can also be accessed on the Wilmington Web, at <http://www.tiac.net/users/amerins/web.htm> (still gotta mail that check).

So be good and join the Santa Cause - for goodness sake.

Tewksbury summer reading program
 Hats off to the children at the North Street and Center Schools in Tewksbury. Seventy-seven percent of the students participated in the system wide summer reading program. Mr. Tsimtsos, principal, Karla Conway, reading specialist and parents Dianne Hughes and Mary Tozowski met with each class K-5 and gave awards of recognitions. Kathy Graham captured the moments by taking pictures. Of course the greatest cheer from the students came with a no homework pass.
 To kick off the program each year the PAC has generously brought each student a book which the child chooses in June. Books are our best friends and we look forward to our students continuing to "shine" as readers, for nothing improves reading as much as reading.

WHERE WILL YOU RETIRE?
 Retirement decisions depend on more than comfortable climate and proximity to family and friends. More and more people are looking hard at state taxes on income, sales, property and estates.
 Of the 44 states that have a personal income tax, many offer breaks to senior citizens. Sales taxes often exempt prescription drugs and medical services, categories important to seniors. Many also provide a homestead exemption or offer property tax relief, especially for low income households. But all states lay claim to part of the estate tax the federal government collects, and a few want a lot more. Some also tax intangibles like savings every year.
 It's smart to check out the specific figures for any state you're considering for retirement and keep up to date on changes as states try to keep their citizens at home. New York, for instance, has increased its unified tax credit, the amount you can leave tax-free, and offers a tax break on the value of an inherited home.

Trahan School news for October
 During the month of October, the third grades excitedly prepared for Halloween. Washington Irving's "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" was read and follow up activities were assigned. The culminating event of course, was the Halloween party enjoyed by every class. Ghosts, goblins, witches, Ninjas, aliens and other scary creatures were seen parading through the halls of Trahan.
 Each third grade is now eagerly looking forward to Thanksgiving. Several projects have been planned from the study of the cranberry and its beginning to the study of the early settlers of Plymouth Colony. The children will enjoy crafts, literature and recipes associated with this upcoming holiday.
 Mr. Bill McCabe, one of Tewksbury's finest senior citizens, has graciously volunteered to read to several classes on a weekly basis. The children anxiously look forward to his reading sessions. We applaud him for his tireless effort and for making a difference in the lives of the Trahan children.

A deserving young man from your home town

by Stu Neilson

Sunday is Joe Bamberg Day in Wilmington. Joe is a young man who was severely injured in an accident in August. His injuries are such that he will be in rehabilitation for a long time, long enough to run out of insurance money.

Last week WBZ held a fund raising telethon for the young man from Maine who broke his neck on TV while playing hockey for BU. They raised over $500,000.

That is the big difference between these two young men. The one from Maine had a New England wide audience, who sat glued to their TV's watching again and again as he smashed into the boards during his first college hockey game.

Our young man, Joe Bamberg is in a slightly better physical condition, his paralysis is not as complete, but his financial condition is as severe as that young man from Maine.

It was commented at a meeting Monday evening that the phone line to call in money for the telethon was so jammed that the Wilmington resident could not get through to make a pledge for that young man from Maine. I submit that, right here in Wilmington another young man rests in a hospital bed, with as severe a need for that pledge which you were unable to make.

There will be a 5K race on Sunday. There will also be a spaghetti supper and a bake sale and a raffle (lots & lots of donated prizes). I doubt that there will be half a million dollars raised for Joe Bamberg, but they would surely accept your donation, for the rehabilitation of an equally deserving young athlete from your home town.

Anyone who is unable to attend the Joe Bamberg events and would like to pledge is urged to call the Town Crier on Sunday at 658-2346. We will be manning the phones from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday to accept pledges.

Coats for Kids, Bruins tix for you?

by Jeff Nazzaro

As thermometers across the state drop, charitable knocks on doors both literal and figurative rise by considerable degrees. Many of these charities and benefits are plugged right here in the Town Crier; all are worthy; most ask if you could please dip into the well that is your pocket for something, anything, just one more time.

Cold weather and the holiday season highlight the relative prosperity most of us enjoy - food on the table, warm clothes, gifts under the tree and plenty to go around. Maybe we ring up big debts on the plastic and pay it off until next October, but hey, we have credit.

We have it all, really, and, despite the fact that most of us ain't millionaires, if we're reading this newspaper (or writing in it) instead of sleeping under it, it's a pretty good indication we have enough. And then some.

Unfortunately, our vast, collective "enough," never is, though most of us try to spread it around, or maybe throw our couple of cents towards one or two favorite charities. And then it can get overwhelming.

As the knocks on the door and the rings on the phone grow louder, so too do the "no's" most of us don't like to utter.

Then there are charities that ask us not to dig into our pockets, but our closets. As we change into any number of cold weather coats we may have, others have no such luxury.

Anton's Cleaners, with help from the Boston Bruins, is in the midst of its "Coats for Kids" program. Simply bring a serviceable winter coat to any Anton's - there's one at both the Wilmington Plaza and Stadium Plaza, in Tewksbury - and Anton's will clean it and give it to the Salvation Army, which will in turn donate it to a needy family.

Everyone has at least one winter coat that's been outgrown or simply forgotten. Anton's will remove that green lollypop from the pocket and turn your castoff into a true gift of warmth for someone who truly needs it.

And there are perks, too. For every coat donated, a person is eligible to win two primo tickets to the FleetCenter for a January face off between the Bruins and the defending Stanley Cup champion New Jersey Devils.

In all, five sets of tickets for the best seats in the new house will be raffled for the Bruins vs. the Devils. Anton's has already collected more than 200 winter coats, but is shooting for many more.

Company Vice-President Charles Anton said he hopes this is the first of many successful Coats for Kids programs held by the dry cleaner's 40 stores, headquartered in Tewksbury. There's no reason why it shouldn't be, and no reason why this first effort should not be an unequivocal success.

At a time when every bit helps, this one is easy: a trip to the closet and then a trip to the cleaners. And maybe a trip to the FleetCenter.

A chemical leak at Olin Chemical caused the evacuation of the Eames Street area. Several hundred people went to the Wildwood School where an evacuation center was set up. No serious injuries or damages were reported.

Ralph's Auto Parts joined Carquest, a national automotive market parts marketing program comprised of 18 warehouse distributors and more than 2,200 auto parts stores. The store would still be operated independently by Ralph Medbery, at its Main Street location, but would increase its ability to better serve the community.

Midge Reardon, Bishop of Krugersdorp, So. Africa and her son Timothy were scheduled to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs.

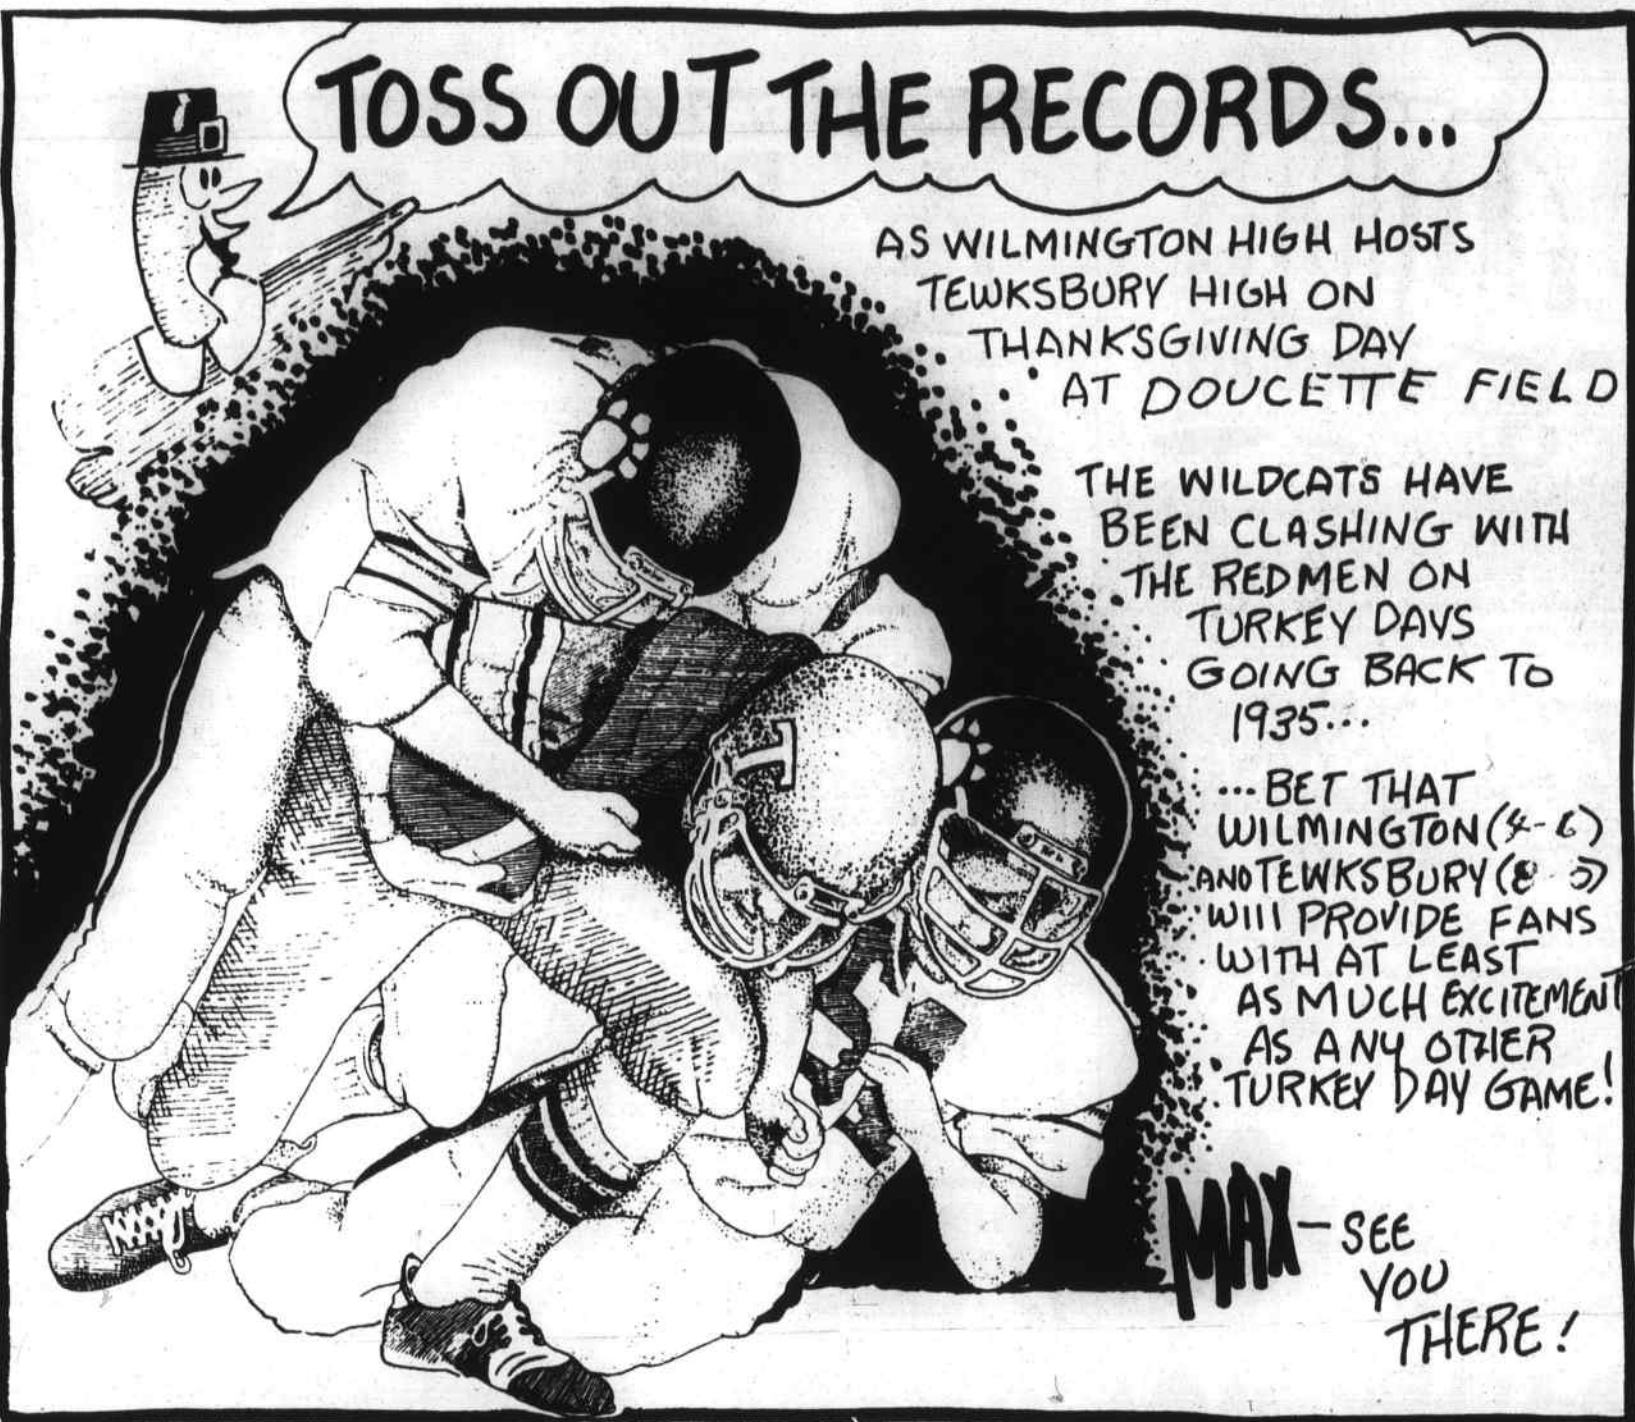

Gordon Reardon of Marion Street. Midge left Wilmington 20 years earlier to become a missionary in So. Africa.

Jill Nolan and Mariam Pylotis were named to the honor roll at Our Lady of Nazareth Academy, Wakefield.

Fr. Larry Drennan of St. Dorothy's Parish was among the Singing Priests of the Archdiocese who would sponsor a concert to benefit the Lowell St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Michael Wood of Butters Row was named to the honor roll at Arlington Catholic High School, where he was a senior.

Dr. Charles Twomey, principal of the Shawsheen Elementary School announced his resignation. The school PAC was planning a farewell get-together for him.

Wilmington's Little Theatre sponsored by the Rec Department was preparing to present the town's first theatre play, "George Washington Slept Here."

Mental procrastination

Dear Larz:

I don't get too involved, I don't have the time and what time I do have is valuable. I'm sure most of us think the same way.

Well, I don't go to PAC meetings, which in my opinion is not too supportive as a parent of a student. I do read the weekly newsletter to keep in touch with what's happening. I do read the PAC minutes for the same reason and think: "I should take some time and just go to the meeting, at least once anyway."

The reason for my letter? Well, I saw in reading one of these newsletters or minutes that the response to the raffle was poor. I wasn't the least bit surprised. Nowadays, with the economy the way it is, asking friends or relatives [to buy raffle tickets] is just opening the door to either a yes or a story about how they can't do it financially.

So, I might as well have sent my $10 in with the [raffle] form as its for upgrading or purchase of new computers. Basically to improve our child's education. Unfortunately, I guess not enough of us feel the same way.

Now, we all say, "I pay taxes, let them get the funding from that." Well, for some unknown, unexplainable reason, it's logical but it just doesn't work that way. Onward.

Then, we have the parents whose children are in their last year of school. They want to save the funds for their new school next year. Understandable, I guess. But didn't your kids benefit from fundraisers of the previous students and those before that?

As for the rest of us, well innocently, procrastination could be a reason, so let's try to be more on time for the sake of the persons running these fundraisers. Their time is valuable too.

For those of us who think that they really haven't the money, I know some of us who really don't. But some of us who think they don't, give it some thought.

Do you rent a couple of videos a weekend? Two or three videos cost in the area of $7-$10. I'm sure if you explained this situation to your children, exposing them to not only the problem at hand but also giving them a lesson in budgeting, they would be willing to forfeit the videos for one weekend. Would you? Or, maybe eating out, or not going to the arcade.

There are so many ways that just once we can make up $10 or even just $5 without too much inconvenience. This is not just for this fundraiser but for all future fund-raisers.

I think every child's education is worth this small effort. It's not only their education, but their future and ours also.

One of the procrastinators

UNIQUE Foreign Auto Care
"We will fix it so it brakes"
600 Main St., Wilmington
(508) 657-5300

Four years ago, when Mike Sciarra opened a repair shop in Wilmington, some of his regular customers came with him. When you consider that the shop he was coming from was in the Newton/Belmont area - that's certainly testimony to his skill as an auto repairman!

It's not always easy to find a repair shop that is willing or able to handle foreign models. But, at Unique Foreign Auto Care, they specialize in Volvo, BMW, Honda, Toyota and Nissan repairs. They are also one of the few auto repair shops in the area to do their own diagnostics work. Bring your car in for only the diagnostics, or have them do the repairs too - computer, performance, clutch, brake job - any major repair. You'll be pleased with the courteous service and expert repairs.

Unique Foreign Auto Care is located at 600 Main Street in Wilmington - near the intersection of Rt. 38 and Rt. 129. They're open Monday thru Friday, 8am - 6pm, and accept Visa, MasterCard, and American Express. Call (508) 657-5300 or 1-800-898-AUTO to make an appointment.

T.D. Waffle
283 Old Main St., Tewksbury
(508) 640-9610

T. D. Waffle... where "Breakfast is served all day with More!" And wait 'til you see the breakfasts! Their extensive menu includes waffles, eggs (cooked any style), omelettes, morning sandwiches, pancakes & French toast, and side orders. Try their "Fresh Fruit Waffle" with banana, kiwi, cantaloupe & strawberries, for $4.75. If you're really hungry, there's the "Tewksbury Redmen" - 3 eggs with sirloin tips and waffle - for $6.50.

As for the "More"... T. D. Waffle also offers lunch and dinner. For lunch, choose from soup, salads, and sandwiches. Dinners will bring back memories of home cooking - ziti, lasagna, roast beef or turkey dinner, ham & scalloped potatoes, liver & onions, meat loaf, and include daily specials - corned beef and cabbage on Monday, barbecued sirloin tips, fresh fish or fish and chips on Friday.

It's been only two years since owners Tom Seto ("T") and Dave Donovan ("D") opened T. D. Waffle. It's a family restaurant with a casual and comfortable atmosphere, and courteous, friendly service. Orders are prepared before you on an open grill, and are made with only the freshest ingredients. Even the orange juice comes from a "fresh squeezed OJ" machine. This waffle house is now selling 400-500 waffles each day. In fact, business has been so good that they have plans to open a second restaurant in Burlington.

T. D. Waffle is open Sunday-Thursday: 5:30am to 9pm; and Friday & Saturday: 5:30am to 10pm. They offer a senior citizen meal discount and a children's menu. Their full menu is available for take-out (call (508) 640-9619 or 640-0159 in advance). They're conveniently located at 283 Old Main Street, Tewksbury (off Route 495 on Route 38 East).

The Alliance for Wilmington Youth is almost there - that is, scant weeks from hopefully opening up the Wilmington Youth Center in the basement of Villanova Hall. But they still need money, about $4,000 they estimate, and, volunteer labor. Work is ongoing Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Center from 6-9 p.m. Standing before part of the refurbished center are Alliance board members Dana Gray, Michael Begonis, Sid Tildsley, Joe Langone, Linda Scifo and Jim Rooney (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Part Vaudeville, part improv = magic

Center for the Arts at UMASS Lowell will present Tom Kubinek: Certified Lunatic and Master of the Impossible as part of the Discovery II Series for Families on Sunday, November 19 at 2 p.m. The event is suitable for children ages 8 through 14.

Whether as a comedian or clown, acrobat or actor, magician or juggler, Tom Kubinek's brand of spontaneous, outrageous humor balances downright silliness with insightful sensitivity. Walt Disney World called Tom's performance...."completely magical. You've never seen anything like this."

With hair resembling cotton candy tufts wildly askew, Tom Kubinek lurches on stage and what follows is a tour de force of first class foolishness, boggling prestidigitation and surreal feats. Who else on the planet can pull off a backward somersault while drinking a glass of water balanced on his forehead and playing the ukelele? Who would have the selfless courage to circle high above the stage, flapping for dear life on giant canvas wings? The answer is found in Tom Kubinek's exuberant brand of vaudeville humor and hilarious improvisation.

A refugee with his family from Soviet-occupied Czechoslovakia, Tom Kubinek grew up in Ontario where he began a life-long interest in circuses, clowns, and magic, entertaining audiences with his magic tricks by the age of 9. Tom appeared as a circus performer in the Canadian production of the Broadway musical Barnum, and studied theater movement and clowning in London and Paris. He has been chosen to represent Canada at a host of international festivals from Walt Disney World to Spain and Australia.

The performance runs approximately one hour and takes place in Durgin Hall, located at the corner of Pawtucket and Wilder Streets on the UMASS Lowell South Campus. The theatre is handicapped accessible and convenient, free parking is nearby.

Tickets are $8.50 each and can be ordered by phone with Mastercard/Visa by calling the Center at (508) 934-4444 weekdays between 10 am and 4 pm. A group rate of $7.00 per ticket is available with the advance purchase of 10 or more tickets.

McCoy liquor license hearing Nov. 29

by Jeff Nazzaro

A public hearing for Michael's Place, Inc. by the Massachusetts Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 29 at 1:30 p.m. in Boston. Michael's Place, owned by Selectman Michael McCoy, is appealing a 2-2 decision by the Wilmington Board of Selectmen earlier this year against issuing the restaurant a liquor license. With McCoy not participating, Selectmen Diane Allan and Dan Wandell voted against the license, while Selectmen Robert Cain and Jim Rooney voted in favor.

At the time, McCoy cried political payback from Allan and promptly secured the services of Boston attorney Daniel J. O'Connell to represent his appeal before the ABCC.

That appeal will be heard in two weeks when O'Connell takes up McCoy's case against the town.

According to ABCC Chairman Stuart Krusell, both sides will present, through evidence and witnesses, arguments - O'Connell for why the decision not to grant was unreasonable and the town for why it was - followed by cross-examinations.

The three-member commission will then meet and make any one of three rulings - to either uphold the ruling of the local board, remand the case back to the local board with approval for the applicant, or remand it back to the local board with no ruling either way.

In any case, selectmen are not bound to any ABCC decision. The ABCC cannot issue a liquor license and cannot force a local board to hold another hearing. But in any case, either side can appeal to Superior Court, with the ABCC ruling as backup, a step McCoy has said he is willing to take if he continues to get stymied by selectmen.

A year-and-a-half ago, Michael's Place was also denied a license by a 2-2 vote with Allan and former Selectman Gerry Duggan voting against and Cain and former Selectman Chester Bruce registering in the positive.

Gleason performs

Wilmington resident Jim Gleason, a sophomore majoring in music education at the University of Massachusetts Lowell, recently performed at the 150th anniversary celebration of the Massachusetts Teachers Association. As a member of the University's Vocal Jazz Ensemble, Gleason participated in a 45 minute a cappella concert before hundreds of invited guests in the ballroom at the Prudential Center in Boston. The ensemble's performance included arrangements of ballad and up-tempo standards as well as current hits. The group is planning several other performances in the Lowell and Boston areas in addition to their regular concert performance in December in Durgin Hall.

Building on a 100-year tradition of excellence in higher education, the University of Massachusetts Lowell offers its 11,000 graduate and undergraduate students a comprehensive range of programs in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Fine Arts, Health Professions, and Management. In seeking to make quality education accessible to all, the University has increased its commitment to meeting students' demonstrated financial need.

Tip o' the ol' fedora

A spirited tip o' the ol' fedora goes this week to everyone even remotely involved with Wilmington's highly successful Veterans' Day observance. The parade and services also commemorating the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II, were well planned and executed with precision.

Perhaps a "double tip" should be offered to: Lions Club member Mike Burns who gave a great deal of time and effort to this most successful venture; the veterans groups, especially those of World War II who marched, rode or simply watched from the sidelines, graciously allowing spectators an opportunity to "thank a vet;" the Historical Commission who's display of old Wilmington photographs was most intriguing and well received; the military personnel who exhibited World War II posters, histories etc.; those responsible for allowing the use of George Spanos' World War II photo collection; those who provided the appropriate appearance of a World War II vintage military plane that roared overhead at just the right moment.

Well done, all of you, very well done indeed!!

To those who could have been there but failed to - you're loss!!

Stone's in the Garden

The sounds of the garden past and present

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone

Recently, I was invited to attend a lecture at a meeting of the Lowell Garden Club. The speaker was Roger Swain, host of the weekly PBS "Victory Garden" program. His lecture was entitled "Listening to the Heartbeat of the Garden" and his comments keep coming back to me as I finish putting my own garden to bed.

We live in the age of more power motors and computers. Indeed, this column would not come to you each week without the beep of my computer and FAX machine. In the garden we rely on power mowers, "more-power" weed eaters and chain saws. I must confess that the sounds of the rototiller and chipper are among my favorites, certainly not for their noise, but for the work they perform. It is easy to forget that these tools are all less than 100 years old. In fact, some are less than 25 years old.

Not many years ago most gardening, and even farming chores, were sung to the sound of the shovel and ax. How many of us remember the slick, slick, slick, slick sound of a rotary man-powered push mower? I do (although you never see them anymore).

Roger Swain spoke of other sounds long gone. The swish of a hand scythe was followed by the thin ring of its blade as it recoiled through the air before the next cut. Who remembers the muted clomp from the hooves of draft horses or oxen as they pulled a plow? Although these sounds are not far in our past, almost no-one remembers them now.

Last week, after we put the blower and chipper to bed, I tried to listen for garden sounds gone by and enjoy the more subtle sounds that autumn brings. The reliable rustle of dry leaves blowing away from a pile and the clack of fire wood as it is stacked are sounds from the past that we, thankfully still have today.

But even now, that the cold has set in, I have already forgotten the almost constant buzz of bees from summer's garden. The hum and chirp of the hummingbird have faded in the crickets and spring peepers must wait for another year. And, as I type this column to the hum of my computer, I look forward to the muffled silence that a blanket of snow will soon bring to my garden.

The sounds of the past could be sounds of last summer, last year, from the gardens of our childhood or of our grandparents. We forget them all too quickly. Many of the sounds in our garden may change with our mechanized society, but the sounds of nature are a quiet constant year after year. Thank you Roger, for the reminder.

Massbank earns record profits

MASSBANK holding company (NASDAQ-MASB) recently announced record consolidated net income for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1995 of $2,217,000 or 80¢ per share.

For the nine months ended September 30, 1995, the Company reported consolidated net income of $6,512,000 or $2.34 per share ($2.32 per share on a fully-diluted basis) compared to $6,022,000 or $2.08 per share earned in the first nine months of 1994.

The Company's earnings results for the third quarter of 1995 were favorably impacted by a $478,000 refund in Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") deposit insurance premiums. This was due to a reduction in assessment rates on insurable deposits announced in the third quarter, but effective as of June 1, 1995. Earnings for the third quarter also reflect a modest decline in net interest margin, a lower provision for possible loan losses and $57,000 in net securities losses. The Company's net interest margin for the recent quarter was 3.09% compared to 3.11% for the same quarter one year ago.

The Company's return on average assets which has been increasing steadily for the past few years, reached 1.06% in the recent quarter and totaled 1.04% for the nine months ended September 30, 1995, compared to 0.94% for the same period in 1994. Total average assets for the quarter were $838.6 million compared to $847.9 million in the third quarter of 1994.

The Bank's provision for possible loan losses during the recent quarter declined to $30 thousand from $150 thousand in the third quarter of 1994. The Bank's allowance for possible loan losses totaled $2.6 million at September 30, 1995 representing 128% of non-performing loans compared to $2.5 million representing 128% of non-performing loans at the end of the third quarter of 1994.

MASSBANK Corp. had total assets of $846.5 million and total deposits of $753.9 million at September 30, 1995. This compares to total assets of $846.3 million and total deposits of $763.4 million at September 30, 1994. Stockholders' equity at the end of the third quarter of 1995 was $84.8 million representing a book value of $30.95 per share, an increase from $26.75 per share representing a book value of $26.75 per share at September 30, 1994. The Company has increased its book value by $4.20 per share or 15.7% during the twelve months ended September 30, 1995.

The company's capital to assets ratio at Sept. 30 was 10.01%, well above regulatory requirements.

Let's Talk Real Estate with Ralph E. Newhouse and Maureen A. Foresteire GRI, CRB

Realtors are often met at a listing presentation by the smiling sellers who have just completed a lot of work to prepare their home for the market. Sometimes we have to hold our breath and recommend that they re-do what they have done. Call your Realtor before you make any changes to your house prior to listing it. A knowledgeable Realtor can advise you about what will help your house sell and can tell you if the work you are contemplating is really necessary, whether it's paint and wallpaper or remodeling the kitchen. Sometimes a home's decor makes a strong statement and it is not necessarily "Buy Me!" You may want to work toward neutralizing your home, making it sparkle. Your goal should be to present a "blank canvas" on which prospective purchasers can mentally paint what their lives will be like when they move in with their things.

Books on tape

The library's popular "books on tape" collection is growing as more titles are regularly added. New titles received this week include: Murder on Martha's Vineyard, The Murders in the Rue Morgue, The Body Farm, Felicia's Journey, and Resistance. Books on tape have long been available for loan at most public libraries, but Wilmington's collection is fairly new and therefore comparatively small.

As of June, 1995 the library owned a total of 526 audio cassettes. The adult department's collection of books on tape was begun with funds from the Wilmington Handicapped Commission and has been expanded by gifts from the Wilmington Lions Club as well as by purchases from the library budget. Besides its obvious importance to the visually and reading impaired, books on tape fill the same niche for all library patrons as old time radio. Patrons report enthusiastically that they listen to tapes borrowed from the library as they cook, sew, pursue other crafts and hobbies. They fill commuting and travel time by listening to books of their choice or in learning a foreign language. Parents have discovered the benefits of story and musical tapes for family trips and sick at home times. ### Cancer program approved by Commission on Cancer

The Commission on Cancer, a division of the American College of Surgeons, has granted a three year approval to the cancer program at Lahey Hitchcock Medical Center. The achievement culminates two years of staff dedication to providing high quality care to cancer patients.

Established by the American College of Surgeons in 1932, the Approvals Program encourages participants to provide the best care available in diagnosis and treatment of cancer. Recognizing that cancer is a complex group of diseases, the program promotes consultation among surgeons, medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, diagnostic radiologists, pathologists and other cancer specialists. This multidisciplinary cooperation results in improved patient care.

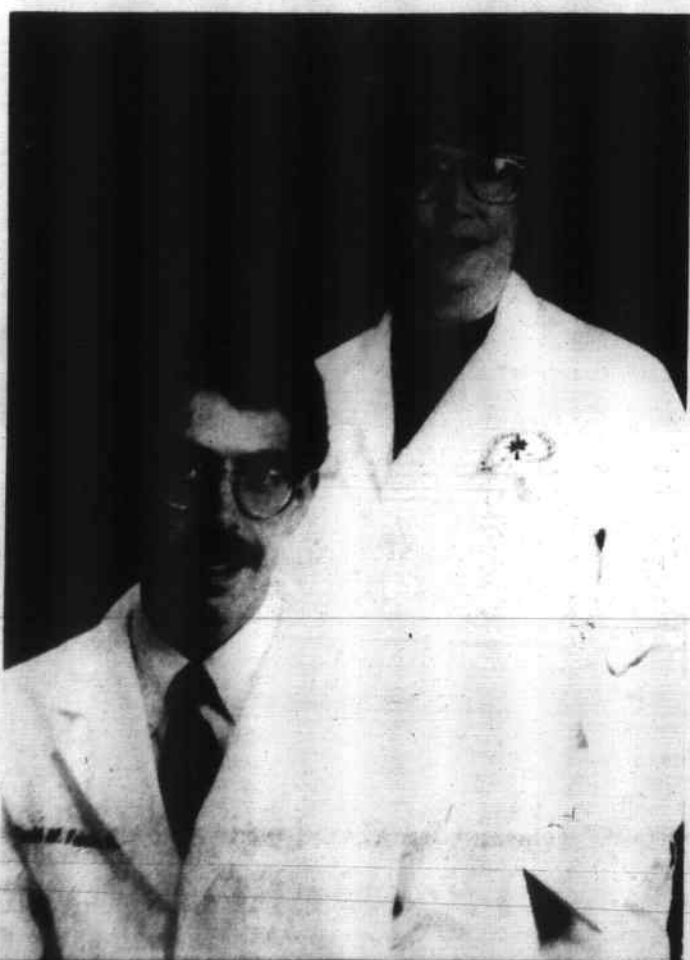

An integral part of the cancer program is the tumor registry. All patients who are diagnosed or treated for cancer are listed in the registry so the institution can maintain contact with them and be assured that they are receiving continued care and assistance with rehabilitation. Information collected through the registry allows Lahey Hitchcock Medical Center to participate in the national studies that are designed to improve patient care.

Carl Olsson, a caring concerned teacher

by James Pote

Carl Olsson was a man of many distinct qualities.

Just ask the combined 2,200 people who were touched by Olsson's positive way of life and expressed gratitude by attending his wake and funeral this past week to share their thoughts and to pay their respects to a man they looked up to and truly loved.

A social studies teacher at Wilmington High School for the past 26 years, Olsson's loss is being felt not only at Wilmington High, but also in the Chelmsford community, where he and his family have resided throughout their entire lives.

Olsson, 50, died on Sunday, Nov. 5 of cancer after battling the disease for three years.

As one of Olsson's co-workers, WHS guidance counselor and former social studies teacher Geno Disarcina described him, Olsson was a person who no one knew was born in Scotland and a person who no one ever said a bad word about. That latter description is most certainly true.

Olsson loved his students and his students loved him. He loved his co-workers and they truly thought of him as one of their favorites. His communities, both Wilmington and Chelmsford, surely will miss him. He loved them both.

As his wife of 27 years, Judy, describes him, Olsson was "an extremely private person living in a public life" - Carl Olsson wasn't out for personal gains. He wanted his clicker on the couch where no one could take it away from him and he loved to watch Star Trek reruns while reading a book - he lived in the public life to help the students of tomorrow.

"Carl never took himself seriously," said acting principal at WHS, Eddie Woods. "He was such a good role model. He was a good guy, he always had a smile on his face."

Olsson's co-workers agreed with Woods.

"He was such a caring concerned teacher. He was always helpful. He had a wonderful smile and he would always sit and listen to what anyone would have to say," said Abigail Russell, a friend who worked with Olsson in the social studies department for the last 13 years, which included Olsson being the department head for the past ten years.

"He was a kind, warm person who was always there for anyone who needed him. He always had terrific ideas and whenever anyone needed different ways to make the classroom more exciting he would always come up with great ideas. He was a very courageous person who I will miss a lot," Russell continued.

Another fellow teacher in the social studies office, Dick Scanlon, said he arrived at WHS a year before Olsson did and he describes Olsson as a very likeable, yet private person, and most of all a friend.

"I always knew he was involved in the Chelmsford community, but I never realized how deeply involved he was. He went from soup to nuts. He accomplished so much in an unassuming way. Education will miss him and people will mostly miss him - including me. He was a well respected person and none of [the faculty] was aware of his involvement with his community and I really praised him for that when I found out. There were so many positives in his life."

Olsson was born in 1944 in Edinburgh, Scotland. He graduated in 1963 from Chelmsford High School, where he was a track star for four years. He still holds the record in the 220-yard dash and he was undefeated in his four years in dual meets in the 100-meter run. He led his teammates to a state championship in his senior year and he is described as a "Carl Lewis, straight-up kind of runner."

"He was a very good sprinter - I think he was the best in the state and maybe in New England," said long-time and current math teacher and former track coach at WHS, Frank Kelley, who was coaching Wilmington when Olsson ran for the Lions.

After high school, Olsson went to the University of Massachusetts as an agricultural major but dropped out six months later. After talking to one of his friends and former teachers, George Samoni of Chelmsford, Olsson then went to Trinity State College in Colorado to become a teacher.

"Carl was a great student and a great friend and I will miss him," said Samoni. "[In his political life], He had a unique way of figuring things out and he was always fair to everyone. Everything he fought for was for the kids," Samoni continued.

Olsson graduated from the University of Northern Colorado and he applied for a teacher's job in Wilmington in June of 1969, completing his Masters of Education at UMass in 1973. According to Frank Kelley, then Wilmington Superintendent of Schools Harold Shea asked Olsson why he chose Wilmington when he lived in Chelmsford. Olsson replied that he liked a lot of the athletes on the WHS track team when he went against them and he wanted to meet more of those kinds of students. Shea hired him on the basis of that response and Olsson began his first of 26 years educating Wilmington teenagers.

Olsson always found ways to help out everyone and anyone during his tenure at WHS. Whether it was helping out fellow faculty members with things pertaining to making the classes more exciting, or taking out money from the social studies department's budget to help out the WHS library and good friend Beverly Shea when she never had a budget or if it was just to help out his kids, Olsson was ready and willing.

Three rehearsals will be held on three Sundays to prepare for the Olsson has been described as a gentleman, as a person who brought out positives in his students and other people, as a superb sprinter, a strong community servant and one who carried on to become an excellent teacher. Carl Olsson was truly a man of many distinct qualities.

"In all of the years of him teaching, I never recall him once coming home and complaining about any kid whatsoever. Carl loves the kids and he always has. It really would have meant a lot to him to see so many of his students show up [at his wake and funeral]," said Judy.

"Carl believed in the kids. He believed that everyone has good in them, especially the students. He would look for the best from them and they respected him a lot. He went through a lot [with his illness] and I, the kids and the entire school will never forget his courage of coming in everyday just to see the kids."

Kelley said in the classroom that he was teaching on Monday, Nov. 6 when Woods told the entire school of Olsson's passing. Kelley said he could have heard a pin drop for a very long time.

Olsson was diagnosed with cancer midway through the 1991-92 school year. At that time, he and his family, wife Judy and children Erik, now 16, and Maryellen 13, were told that the cancer was 90 percent curable.

After surgery in December of 1991, Olsson returned to WHS. However, in the summer of 1993, Olsson's health really took a step backwards forcing him out of teaching during the entire 1993-94 school season.

But, whether he used his feet, crutches, a cane, a wheelchair by himself or someone else helping him in the wheelchair, Olsson came to school every day he possibly could this school year. Judy said he did not suffer from physical, but rather emotional pain, because his health was not improving.

But Olsson was going to attend school no matter what and no one was going to stop him. He couldn't even shave but that didn't matter to him. What mattered was he wanted to teach and he wanted to see his students' smiles every day.

Despite not being able to use his legs, Olsson accomplished the amazing, coming to school every day before Columbus Day, when his health reached a point from which it could never recover. He knew at that point there was no way he could beat the cancer.

"When he was teaching this year he told the kids about his illness and all of the kids really were great to him," said Judy. "He would come home and say that he felt so comfortable with the kids. He would say that his class would and could do anything in life, especially since they had already built its foundations."

Olsson did a lot for both Chelmsford and Wilmington during his life. In Chelmsford, he was on the school committee for the past 12 years while serving as chairman for three years. During some of that time, he was president of the teachers union in Wilmington from 1986-1989.

"That just showed how fair of a person he was. I don't think he had any enemies. He was a very unique person who touched so many people's lives," said Judy.

Also during his residency in Chelmsford he was a youth baseball, basketball and soccer coach for both of his kids while they were growing up. Also while his children were growing up, Olsson cooked spaghetti dinners for various benefits in their school and he continued to do that after his kids left that school. Olsson served on the Drug Commission as well as the Town Commission and was a charter member of the Chelmsford Alumni Association.

He also got elected in 1993 to the Chelmsford Hall of Fame, which is neither academically nor athletically oriented. It is for those people who either did great things in high school or great things out of high school or great things within the community.

"Carl did all three. He really was involved in politics and all kinds of different boards in Chelmsford. He loved Chelmsford and he loved Wilmington just as much," said Samoni.

In Wilmington, in addition to being social studies department head for 10 years, Olsson served as class advisor many times and chaperoned many dances over his 26 year tenure. He also served as an acting vice principal at one time - but according to his wife, that wasn't Carl.

"That wasn't him at all. He came home really tired and he wasn't smiling - he always smiled when he came home. He missed the kids a lot and he liked the faculty and they liked him but he really missed being a teacher."

Finally, during his teaching tenure at WHS, he took his classes to the library many times. And now the library will have a new collection on its shelf.

"Carl always wanted his 250 or so social studies videos in the library so he could share with the other teachers and it would be better cared for. But, since I was by myself for all of those years it was difficult to do all of that work - but I told him someday I would do it," said WHS librarian and close friend Beverly Shea.

"About three weeks ago we [Abigail Russell and Shea] went in to visit Carl and I told him the time has come ... for the collection to go into the library. And now we will have a Carl Olsson Memorial Collection," Shea continued.

Shea and Olsson were very good work friends. He would always jokingly try to offer her some suggestions of how to get some money. "How about a book sale, he would tell me to do," said Shea. "Why don't you scream and yell and ask for money - you run a library," Olsson would tell Shea. When Shea didn't have any budget money Olsson would help her out.

"Carl would take some of his money from the social studies budget and buy some books for the library when they didn't have [a budget] and when they did have one. He was a wonderful supporter of the library," Shea continued.

"Some of the fun of this school has gone out since Carl hasn't been around. He was a true gentleman, a wonderful teacher who went out of his way to help each and every student. He saw the big picture - he always brought optimism that he could be better, that his friends could be better, that the library could be better, that the school could be better and the country could be better. He was always optimistic about everything."

To illustrate just what kind of optimism Carl Olsson brought to many people's lives, the priest who provided his services said at the funeral that when he went in to console Olsson in the final days of his life, it was Carl Olsson who ended up consoling the priest.

Wilmington Youth Chorus seeks singers

The Arts Council has announced that there are openings available on the Youth Chorus which they are sponsoring this year under the direction of Carolyn Stanhope. Stanhope is well respected in Wilmington for her musical talents. The council is fortunate to have her replace David Fuller who coached the chorus before leaving Wilmington.

Three rehearsals will be held on three Sundays to prepare for the annual Christmas Concert being presented this year on Sunday, December 10.

There will be a rehearsal at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 19 at the Arts Center and on the two following Sundays. To register call Carolyn Stanhope at 658-3718.

This promises to be a great opportunity for students in grades one through six to learn and participate in song celebrating this festive season.

Junior Rotarians enjoy luncheon meetings

Mike Caira Jr., and Jee Hyun Kim are now Junior Rotarians, and are guests for lunch every Wednesday at the Rotary Club of Wilmington.

Mike Caira is following in his father's footsteps, at least so far. His father was a Junior Rotarian when he was a senior in Wilmington High School. The elder Caira is now, of course, the Town Manager of Wilmington.

Jee Hyun Kim was 18 on October

30, born in Seoul, Korea. She learned to speak English in the United States, spending one year in Waltham and the past seven in Wilmington. She lives with her parents on Nassau Avenue in Wilmington. Her father is the owner of a small business.

Besides her native Korean Jee also has a command of the French language. She is attending Harvard one evening a week to study psychology.

In December there will be two other Junior Rotarians from Wilmington High School to share lunches with the club members.

Edward Starke of Tewksbury, a sophomore in the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration program at Shawsheen Tech, works with a new software package that enables students to learn how to monitor and control building environment from a personal computer. The new software and installation support was donated by Landis and Gyr Powers Inc. According to instructor Dennis Houlihan, learning the latest technology in energy management systems is an important focus of the ARC program at Shawsheen. "With this type of system students can become familiar with how buildings are controlled by computers," he said. "Heating and air conditioning units, lighting, security and fire alarms can all be connected to this type of system" he noted. The controlling computer can be located in the building or at a remote location reached by telephone.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

SOLVING MORTGAGE WORRIES

QUESTION: What is mortgage life insurance?

ANSWER: One type—Reducing Term, offers protection for the length of the mortgage-payment period. It takes its name from the fact that the amount of protection decreases each year as the amount you owe on your mortgage grows less and less. Although you pay the same premium rate each year, the decreasing protection feature makes the premium rate relatively low—considerably below that of regular term insurance for the same period of years.

Another policy often used for this purpose, is the Family Income Policy. This is a combination of reducing term and straight life.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE is a form of reducing term life insurance. Thus the premium is lower.

Wilmington seniors recently learned about energy conservation, safety and awareness from Ann Marie Brennick (standing, center), Communications Coordinator for the Reading Municipal Light Department, during her recent visit to the Senior Center. As a part of the RMLD's Public Power Week and Energy Awareness Month activities, Ann Marie not only told the seniors how to be more energy conscious, she also explained about the benefits of receiving electricity from a public power system like the RMLD. Among the Wilmington residents who attended the meeting to learn more about the RMLD, their municipal electric system, were (seated, left to right) Michael Pisani and Winifred Carter (standing, left to right) Frances Calandrello, Ann Marie, and Marilyn McCarthy, a member of the Wilmington Senior Center Board of Commissioners.

Rt 38 reconstruction to start next fall

by Jeff Nazzaro
Construction on the proposed widening of Route 38 from Richmond Street (Route 129) to Middlesex Avenue is slated to begin in the fall of 1996, with roadway work completed in four to five months, according to Massachusetts Highway Department Supervising Project Manager Robert Lapsley.
MassHighway held a public hearing last Thursday night at Town Hall before less than 25 residents, most of which were town officials.
The project, which will serve to widen Route 38 to four, 11-foot travel lanes with traffic signals at the Route 129 and Clark Street intersections and between Wilmington Plaza and the former Wilmington Ford site, produced few questions and less controversy.
Some town officials, including Town Manager Michael Cairra, expressed an interest in having utility wires placed underground as part of the project. Wilmington Redevelopment Authority Chairman Michael Matt had earlier said the move had been looked into but dismissed because of the cost to the town.
While the Federal Highway Administration (80 percent) and MassHighway (20 percent) will be picking up the tab for the estimated

$1.2 million reconstruction, utility burying is not included. Cairra asked that possibility "not be dismissed at this time" and Lapsley suggested Cairra make a formal request to MassHighway Chief Engineer Ross Dindio for the utility proposal to be included.
The 25 percent plans shown Thursday were the same submitted to and approved by the board of selectmen in November of last year. MassHighway is now working toward 75 percent plans while preparing to file an environmental notification with the Massachusetts Environmental Policy Act Unit and a notice of intent with the Wilmington Conservation Commission.
In addition to the roadway widening and signal implementation, a new storm drain system, granite curbing, six-foot sidewalks with wheelchair ramps and crosswalks will be constructed.
Lapsley said that Route 38 will not be closed in full during construction, with at least one lane open.
"We would absolutely maintain traffic flow at all times," Lapsley said. "I'm not going to say it's going to be 100 percent comfortable, but we won't shut the road down."

Wilmington senior topics

Thanks, Elks
The Wilmington Council on Aging has extended its thanks to the members of the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks and their wives for donating their time and talent to entertain seniors at the recent Thanksgiving Holiday Dinner-Dance. As in previous years, seniors were amazed at the Elks and their wives, who had not only worked at their place of employment during the day, yet found enough strength to travel from table to table serving over 250 seniors in such a pleasant manner. No one would have known how tired they must have been. They certainly gave all those present an enjoyable evening.
The meal was delicious and the musical talents of Jimmy and Elaine were delightful. Thanks again, Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks for another wonderful evening.
Welcome, 911
Chief of Police Bobby Stewart has announced the implementation of the 911 system in Wilmington. It is now in full operation. This program has helped thousands of people in Massachusetts during an emergency. It is Chief Stewart's hope to have every household in Wilmington aware of this program. To do this, 911 decal magnets and telephone stickers will be available at the Senior Center. Police Officer Bobby Shelley will be at the Center to explain the importance of dialing 911 in an emergency.
Commissioners meet Tuesday

Tuesday, November 21, the commissioners meeting will be held in the function beginning at 1:30 p.m. The guest at this meeting will be Attorney James Banda. He will be answering legal questions that trouble seniors. How the cuts in elder programs will effect seniors. How to protect assets. The importance of a will, power of attorney, The Homestead Act, should we give a copy of the health-care proxy form to our attorney and other questions you may have.
Attorney Banda has been helpful to many seniors over many years. Being a Wilmington attorney for many years and a senior himself, he understands the many legal problems and fears that seniors experience. This is an opportunity to get questions answered free of charge.

Most retirees don't just sit
No too long ago, when a typical retired couple would sit on an easy chair and watch television, listen to the radio, read a book or take naps. Not any more. Now a more accurate description is the retired couples are becoming more and more active. At the Senior Center that is very evident. Twenty-five to 35 seniors can be seen exercising their arms and legs in aerobic exercise dance under the instruction of a tremendous teacher, Susan Silva every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 to 11 a.m. If that is not enough exercise for these 60, 70 or 80 year olds, they can dance up a storm under the direction of Marguerite Cavanaugh. Others will head off to golf courses, tennis courts or ski slopes.

The scientific evidence clearly shows that regular physical activity helps to keep both minds and bodies healthy and strong. It helps to reduce heart disease, prevents osteoporosis, decreases the chance of falls, controls diabetes and cancer, keeps weights down while building the body strong. It is also fun to exercise in groups and is a chance to make new friends.

Christmas social

The Christmas therapeutic social will be held Thursday, December 7, in the Tewksbury/Wilmington Hall. A chicken dinner with all the trimmings will be served at 7 p.m. Music for dinner and dancing will be provided by Roger and Sharon Dalio. Sign-up for this social will be held Friday, Nov. 17 starting at 10 a.m. A $3 non refundable deposit will be required to help defray the cost of the evening. At that time table numbers will be given. Please do not ask us to sign up for another unless it is a spouse.

Only Wilmington seniors may attend the socials. Three dollars is only a stipend toward the cost of all the socials, the largest part of our socials is paid through the department budget.

This is more like it

by James Pote

If the Wilmington High School varsity football team played like they did, as a team, this past Saturday, then perhaps they could be looking at a great season. They played great two-way football and, most important, they displayed that together and throughout both halves of the 40 minute game.

Wilmington has improved over the past few games and this past Saturday the team leaped into new territory with a 19-7 win over Pentucket in their last home game of the season. But, they have to leap into a whole new ballpark, let alone territory, in their last dual with Tewksbury on Thanksgiving Day morning. Should this writer remind its readers that the Redmen are undefeated at 8-0 and will be facing Walpole in the division 2B Super Bowl? Gulp!

But, as junior running back Billy Harrison says, it's eleven guys against eleven guys and it is never known what could happen. So true. And on top of that this will be the last Turkey Day game between these two towns ending a 60-year dance together, so something has to give.

"Hopefully since they [Tewksbury] play this Friday [at Methuen], we can take advantage of that and hopefully they will be very tired. I give them a lot of credit for having a great season but you never know what can happen," said head coach Gerry Sullivan.

If Wilmington played all season the way they did this past Saturday, fans may have witnessed two Super Bowl bound teams. Wilmington did everything right. Throwing the ball? Rich Gillis, 100 yards in the first half. Rushing the ball? Rich Gillis 87 yards and Sean Kerrigan 74 yards. Defense? Mike O'Toole's two sacks, Rich Gillis' big tackles and an entire team chipping in. Play calling? How about a 58-yard bomb from Rich Gillis to Josh Cormier down the right side of the field into the end zone?

Not the players themselves, but the overall description of how the team won in the Pentucket game is what Wilmington football is all about. The first step has been taken - hopefully many more will be added by this time next year.

"We had a lot of strong games by a lot of different players today. I thought Richie had a strong game, I thought Mike O'Toole played well and I also thought Dave DiPasquale had a solid game, too. If our line can play up to its capabilities then hopefully we can do something against Tewksbury - if not it will be a long day," Sullivan said.

With Wilmington clinging onto a 14-7 lead with just a few minutes left in the final quarter, Wilmington took the ball and the game right out of Pentucket's hands, literally and figuratively. After Wilmington went three and out and they had to punt from their own 30-yard line, Brian Carroll pounced on a loose ball and Wilmington took over at their own 48.

Rich Gillis took the snap and gained a yard on the first play of the series. The next play he added 45 yards down to the Pentucket 17-yard line and Wilmington was in business. Next play, would you believe it was Gillis to the rescue? How about a 17-yard run that Sullivan describes as "Richie ran, jumped, spinned and then some," through many different defenders? And he went into the end zone and the victory was in the hands of the Cats.

Did I mention, Rich Gillis threw for 100 yards and all in the first half, while finishing the game with 87 yards rushing with all but one of those rushes as the team's quarterback?

After both teams struggled offensively over the first quarter-and-a-half, Kerrigan scored the first TD of the game on a 2-yard run. That 7-yard play was set-up by himself on two combined runs of 28 yards followed by a 19-yard completion from Rich Gillis to Billy Harrison.

After Pentucket went three-and-out on their next series, Gillis then threw one of the best passes and by far the prettiest plays of the past three seasons when he hooked up with Cormier with a tight spiral that led him gliding into the zone.

The final Wilmington-Tewksbury Thanksgiving Day football game will be a week from Thursday - it will be sad to see it end no matter the score ... that won't matter, the memories will. Go.

"I have a tremendous coaching staff" - Aylward

by Jeff Nazzaro
As Tewksbury High School head football coach Bob Aylward has mowed his team through the Merrimack Valley Conference en route to a so far 8-0 record and one Super Bowl berth, many things have remained constant.

Consistency is a football coaches best friend. And as Aylward has gotten Old Faithful-like performances from his players, as the dream season as progressed in workmanlike order, and as the number of sports scribes, radio and television crews surrounding Aylward after each game have increased, the coach has been as adamant in distributing credit as he has been in distributing the ball to his loaded offense.

For each new face he sees, Aylward has two messages: "Thank God for speed (a.k.a., in this case, Torode, Christopher, Adorno, Lavoie, etc.), and "I have a tremendous coaching staff."

Consistency starts from the top down, and if it is truly a coach's best friend, then preparation is its mom and pop. Aylward's coaching staff provides the preparation, which in turn produces consistency.

Week in and week out, win in and win out, Aylward has received and acknowledged the dedication, professionalism, knowledge and energy of his staff, both paid and volunteer: Ernie Lightfoot, Gary Ballou, Brian Hickey, Paul Norton, Rob Aylward, Bob Ware, Brian Aylward, Bill Piscione, Tom Bradley, Tom Aylward, Dave Morin and Brendan Tobin.

Lightfoot has coached football with Aylward for the last 22 years, including the last five at Nashua High School. He takes on a lot of the organizational work and serves as Aylward's chief scout and assistant, while "pinch-hitting all the way from offensive line to receivers to backs and quarterbacks," Aylward said. "He's a doer and an old-time football coach. When he says something will get done, it gets done." And, Aylward said, Lightfoot "has always had a great relationship with the kids."

That seems to be a constant on Aylward's staff, and not one to be taken for granted when all those X's and O's, scouting reports and pep talks have to be turned into football plays made by young football players.

Gary Ballou began coaching even younger players. Aylward noticed Ballou's talents at the Pop Warner level and brought him on board for 1981's Super Bowl season. Ballou has been at Tewksbury ever since, including spending the last five seasons as former coach Joe DelGrosso's offensive coordinator. Though Aylward retains executive decision on all play calls, Ballou is responsible for 90 percent of the say when Tewksbury has the ball and accordingly, "he understands this offense as well as anybody," Aylward said.

And what an offense to understand. With play fakes galore and an array of reverses, traps, screens, and often just "crazy" plays, the "O" keeps clicking, with no small credit due the coaching staff.

Ballou said that through repetition of practice and maturity of players, the system, essentially the same one used by DelGrosso, "has been great and the execution has been fantastic." He too credits team speed and also a solid offensive line, with great corner blocking from backs to allow the guy with the ball to get outside and use that speed. In short, it's all going according to plan.

Brian Hickey and Paul Norton bring great knowledge and experience to the staff. Hickey, another veteran of DelGrosso's staff, has coached at Malden Catholic and Medford and "adds good knowledge of both sides of the football," while focusing on linebackers and defensive backs, according to Aylward.

Norton came to Tewksbury with Aylward after five years in Nashua and works with the defensive line. He is also superintendent of the Billerica House of Corrections. "The kids have tremendous respect for him," Aylward said.

Then there is Bill Piscione. The very popular TMHS teacher and track coach also served as defensive line coach under DelGrosso for the last five years. But when Aylward returned, he needed a big sacrifice, and got it, from Piscione.

Aylward believes in separating his ninth graders from the rest of his team for physical and mental maturity reasons. He needed an experienced coach to take over the freshman program and Piscione answered the call.

"Bill deserves a medal of honor for us," Aylward said. "He made a tremendous sacrifice for us this year. He's a most valuable coach."

Where experience might still be forthcoming on parts of this staff, energy takes over. Aylward's staff blends experience with youth in a way that has paid dividends to all involved. The "kids" of the staff, Bob Ware, Tom Bradley and Rob, Brian and Tom Aylward, all have at least one thing in common: they starred for Aylward in red and blue football uniforms.

All five also brought coaching experience into this season and have served to inspire, not only the true kids, but the older coaches as well.

"Collectively there's some real good minds on the staff and a lot of years in," Lightfoot said. "But the youthful energy in itself is exciting. The [younger guys] work well with the kids and pick us older guys up. It's good. It's nice to be with these guys."

And three of those younger guys also call Aylward dad.

To grow up in the Aylward home is to grow up with football, plain, but not always simple. Where most families have a TV or a family room, the Aylward's have a "football room," complete with chalkboard.

board, pull-down projection screen and Super 8 videos dating back to the early 70s.

But years of football talk at the supper table, in the football room or on the practice field didn't fill in all of the picture. That is coming through coaching with Aylward.

"You learn a lot," said Rob, who quarterbacked his father's only Super Bowl championship team, in 1985. "You think you know a lot about football until you work for him."

From playing to working, the field has remained the same but the atmosphere has changed, if only slightly.

"He expects as much out of you as a coach as he does as a player," said Brian, who also teaches history at the high school. "It's harder because as an adult he expects more out of you. He's a good guy to work for. I've always respected him as much as a coach as I have as a person."

Both Brian and Rob, along with dad, agree the opportunity is as great as it is rare.

"It's the opportunity of a lifetime," Rob said. "Me, Brian, my father, Tommy ... where else are you going to find that? It's been great."

"Coaching with them in a professional sense has been a joy," Aylward said. "I'm very proud as a father but I'm very pleased as a professional."

He, along with his staff, is also pleased with the string of wins.

"This staff has been tremendous," Aylward said. "We all seem to work so well together. We're pretty well organized going into it - we preplan everything going in. And I think the kids see that. ..."

"You don't win unless you have some horses. I think our kids have been performers all season. Every kid who's been on the field deserves credit, and so does every kid who doesn't get on the field."

And so too does every member of coach Bob Aylward's staff.

by Karen Miethe

The next Oksana Baiul or Brian Boitano could be skating with the Wilmington Figure Skating Club right now. From what this writer saw, these kids are dedicated, and they have a lot of courage.

The club celebrated its Silver Anniversary last year at an April exhibition show held at Merrimack College. The 25-year road to the cold but comfortable confines of Merrimack's Volpe Athletic Center was long but fruitful.

In January of 1968, the Wilmington Figure Skating Club was conceived with 60 members - all of them girls - on an outdoor rink on Chestnut Street in Wilmington.

Women volunteered their time to teach the younger, less experienced girls how to skate. Later in the year, the club filed an application with the Figure Skating Association for membership, and now, 25 years and hundreds of skaters later, 60 girls has turned into 125 members.

It was difficult for the club to find an indoor rink to skate in for the first couple of years, but in 1971, the club was able to secure the Youth Ice Arena in Wilmington, and they called that their "home ice" until 1984, when the rink was closed.

For two years, the club had no place to call home, so they were forced to travel between the Brooks School in North Andover and the Janas Rink in Lowell. In 1986, the club moved into the newly built Ristuccia Expo Center on Main Street in Wilmington and have called that ice home ever since.

As well as offering skating programs for young adults, the Wilmington Figure Skating Club also offers a Toddler Program for kids ages three through five; a Badge Program for kids age five and up; and an adult program.

The Badge Program is designed to develop basic skills for recreational skating, or it can be used as a basis to advance further. The Wilmington Figure Skating Club boasts practice ice for the Badge Program.

"A lot of other rinks don't do that," said Nancy Murphy, who has volunteered her time to the Wilmington Figure Skating Club for eight years. She also teaches kindergarten in Wilmington.

The club does not just cater to individual people, there is also a family membership available that allows parents to participate along with their children.

Every April, the club puts on an exhibition to showcase the kids' talent, and for the last few years, it has been held at Merrimack. All the kids, from tots to teens, get dressed up in costumes and strut their stuff.

"The toddlers really steal the show," said Murphy.

Although the Badge Program has some boys in it, the young adult program has only one, Matthew Gillis, 12, of Tewksbury. When asked if he minded being the only boy in the program, he shrugged and said, "I'm used to it."

Matthew has been skating for six years and he practices three days a week after school. Professional figure skater and former olympian Christopher Bowman is Matthew's coach, and Matthew lists Bowman and Brian Boitano as his favorite figure skaters.

All of these kids deserve a lot of credit for getting out on the ice, night after night. The ice can be cold and unfriendly when they fall, and their best friend when they nail a perfect jump.

Practicing jumps and spins means lots of falls, and these kids get right back up on their feet, never missing a beat.

Jessica Ghanooni, 11, of Tewksbury has been skating with the club for three-and-a-half years, and she loves it, falls and all. She practices four to five days a week, and says that Oksana Baiul is her favorite figure skater. When Jessica hit a perfect jump at the practice this writer observed, her smile showed that all her hard work has been worth it.

Anyone wishing to join the club, or to get information should contact Nancy Murphy at 657-7676 or the Club phone at 694-9650 and leave a name and phone number. Session "C" adult classes begin on January 24, 1996 and end March 27, 1996.

Two injured runners lead team to another title

by James Pote

They are back in rare form. Actually, even though they are not back in 100 percent health wise, the Tewksbury Memorial High School girls cross country team accomplished another amazing feat.

They became the division three champions which is added onto their division two titles of 1988 and 1990 and their runners up titles for division two also in '91, '92 and '94.

But, this was not any ordinary title for this team - it was a special one.

Sophomore Jen Takach one of the best runners in the state with two plus years ahead of her, finished third overall in the 40 team race with seven runners from each school, with a broken collarbone. Jen's injury occurred in church and she will still compete in this upcoming state title meet. She will have surgery on that shoulder at the end of November and she will most likely be out of the winter track season for a little while.

Takach's courageous performance of 19:33 over 3.1 miles was not the lone one. The second went to Mandy DeRoche who was on crutches throughout the entire season with a hip injury and she ran in her first meet and helped the team when she finished 47th overall at a time of 21:23.

Both of those stories are really amazing and both of them should not go unnoticed - these two girls have given everything they have to their respective sports day in and day out and it's nice to see how well they succeed even when they are not at their best potentials.

Also doing very well in the meet this past weekend was Danielle Bastion who was second on the team and 20th overall at 20:44. Nicole Morandi followed 27th overall at 20:53. Nicole LeBouef, Karen Segur, Aprile Lambert and DeRoche followed in order for the girls to have all seven of their racers come within the top fifth runners to give them the divisional title.

LeBouef finished at 32nd place at a time of 20:59; Segur was 45th at 21:21 and Lambert was 46th at 21:22.

"The key to the win was having all of the girls in the top fifty. If we can continue to do what we have been doing that we could do very well this Saturday," said head coach Bob MacDougall. "But we have to watch out for the teams they we have already beat earlier this year - they will be ready for us."

Hurton leads Turkey Race

The 15th annual Run Your Turkey Off Road Race was held this past Sunday at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Tewksbury was very well represented in both the 15K and the 5K races in which about 850 combined runners helped for the benefit race.

In the 15K race, Mike Hurton finished in 21st place at a very good time of 54:56 over what is estimated at 9.3 miles. Erik Takach followed with a time of 56:30 good for 29th place. After him in the top fifty were Mike Mawn at 57:10 for 36th place and also Glen Thomas at 58:22 good for 44th place.

In the 5K race, Tewksbury had six finishers in the top fifty which includes a father-and-son combination. Kevin Andriolo led in this race at 17:21 time for eleventh place and he was followed by the second best finish from a female from Tammie Brooks for 26th place at a time of 18:54.

Also performing well was Dan Dorazio who finished in 33rd place at 19:25 and Joe Dunn, junior and senior who finished in 34th and 38th places respectively and 32 seconds apart with the younger one finishing at 19:36 and the elder of the two at 20:08. Tony Ganchi finished out the top fifty for Tewksbury representatives in 43rd place at a time of 20:18.

The many advantages of the bow

by Bill Conlon

An interesting invention, this bow and arrow. Today's compound bow with composite arrows is a far cry from the longbows of yore.

For thousands of years, archers were the terror of the battlefield. In the landmark Battle of Agincourt, (immortalized by Shakespeare in "Henry V") English archers cut an overwhelming French force to bits, ensuring an English victory.

On a less-historic scale, archery is a popular method of hunting, and growing more popular with the passing of the years. More towns are outlawing the discharge of firearms every year, leaving archery as the only method left to hunt for the suburban deer showing up in our back yards.

Along with being the only legal way to hunt in many towns, archery offers other benefits to the hunter.

Camouflage -- Bow hunters get to wear clothes that blend in with the scenery, instead of the mandatory "blaze orange" of shotgun-toters. Deer are color-blind, which makes the wearing of camouflage sort of academic, but there's a great reason to wear cammies -- Neighbors!

Entering the woods in an orange suit is sure to alert the neighbors, many of whom won't be thrilled at the idea of guys with guns in their back yards. Doesn't matter if you follow every law in the book, they still don't like it, so count on police showing up. But cammies blend in, and nobody notices a guy in green strolling into the woods. I love it.

Noise -- The law says you must be at least 500 feet from any inhabited dwelling before shooting. Even at twice that distance, the bellow of a shotgun might make the neighbors twitchy. Nobody hears the "twang" of a bow at 500 feet. Nobody.

Longer season -- Archers get to spend 18 days in the field during Massachusetts' bow hunting season, which opened November 6. Shot-gunners get 12 days in the woods, and muzzleloaders get all of three days of hunting. With my success rate, I need all the extra time in the woods I can get. With luck, maybe I can get off a shot this year. I'd be delighted to draw my bow on a real target. Just once, God. Please?

Political Correctness -- There's a perception that bow hunting gives deer a "fair" chance, while hunting with a gun is "unfair." Yes, that is ridiculous, but we need any support we can get. Any hunter will tell you that scent-seeking missiles wouldn't give humans an edge over deer, but we'll take any support that we can. A bow is "sporting" for deer? Fine! Thanks! Now can I go hunting?

Modern equipment -- Bows now on the market are incredibly fast, firing off arrow at blinking speed. (Blink and it's gone.) Add to that shafts made of composite materials, peep sights, mechanical releases, and a variety of other nifty gadgets, and you have a bow that Henry V's archers would have died for. King Harry's troops used longbows made of yew, wooden shafts, arrowheads of iron and no sights. Forget it. (I'll drop it here, rather than upset any "traditional" archers out there. Still, I'd take a modern compound bow over anything from medieval times, hands down and instantly.)

Traditional archers, by the way, use longbows, while "instinctive" archers shoot without sights. There is room for variety in archery, no doubt about it.

Solitude -- Bowhunters, far more than shotgunners, prefer to hunt by themselves. That's fine, since deer hunting is the perfect time to sit and become part of the real world once again, which is best done alone. Just tell somebody where you're going so they'll know where to send the search parties. Just tell somebody.

Cheaper -- You can use the same arrow over and over and over. Try that with a load of OO buckshot!

There is one down-side, however. A broadhead does not kill instantly, unlike a shotgun slug or buckshot. A broadhead kills through blood loss, by slicing open major blood vessels, and not by the trauma of a slug's impact. Archers scoring a boiler-room hit must still sit down and wait, then wait some more, so the deer gets lightheaded enough to lay down for a long (i.e. Eternal) nap. A drop-dead, on-the-spot kill with a bow is very, very rare.

Still and all, deer hunting with a bow is the future of all deer hunting in New England, mark my words. Restrictions on guns will get tighter as the years roll by, not looser, and soon you'll be deer hunting with a bow or not at all.

You read it here first. Go bow.

--- Tackle Box ---

Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club will hold an NRA Personal Protection Firearms Course on November 25 and 26, at $100 per person, $75 for club members, and with discounts for families. Sign up in advance by calling George Rost at 658-6286. If at least six haven't registered by Nov. 21, the class is called off.

Hunting accidents are exceedingly rare these days, so let's keep it that way. A hunting accident gets more ink than a car crash, you'll notice, so be extra careful to avoid all the unwanted press attention. Be damn sure of your target, never shoot at a sound, follow all rules of firearm safety, always wear blaze orange in firearms season, and think. Above all, think. One little "boo-boo" can ruin your day, so don't make any.

Tewksbury youth hockey action

Mite A

The Tewksbury Mite A youth hockey team stayed hot this weekend, hammering Triton 7-1 in Valley League play. Clinging to a 2-1 lead after two periods on goals by Ryan Walsh and Dave Balfour the Redmen exploded for five third period goals to coast home.

The third period goals were scored by Brian Macy (two), Billy Defferari (two) and Pat Cullity. Defferari and Evan Patten led the assist parade with three apiece. Other helpers were earned by Walsh and John Marazzi.

Blueliners Marazzi, Sarah Russell, Jenna Bristol and T.J. Boyle can all take a bow for keeping Triton to a minimum of shots on winning goalie Frankie Halley. Forwards Pat Fitzmaurice, Jared Leone and Todd Richards all kept good pressure in the offensive zone.

Mite Instructional Chiefs

The Mite Chiefs opened their season with a loss to Salem, N.H. by a score of 6-2 in an exciting two way game. After a slow start goalie Andrew McGee came on to make some outstanding saves in the latter stages of the game.

Jeff Little fired in the first Chiefs goal with the assist going to Ron Gordon. Ron Scored the second goal unassisted. The Chiefs really came alive late in the game with good offensive pressure being applied by Chris Ronayne, Matt Wilkie and Little. A good defensive performance was turned in by blueliner Michael Feldhouse.

Mite B

The improving Mite B hockey team suffered a big loss to a strong Lynnfield team Saturday, Nov. 4. Derek Beatrice scored both Tewksbury goals; the first one unassisted and the second on a setup from Mark Martel. Good defensive performances were turned in by the steady Kevin Crosby and Bobby O'Leary.

Blueliners Jeff Colon and Mike Albano also played well. Goalie Justin DuCam was terrific in the net in a valiant effort to keep his team close.

The Mite B's fell again Sunday, Nov. 5 to North Andover by a 6-1 score. The lone score came on a shot by Donny Swansbury set up by the hard working Michael Frazier and Michael Grasso.

The continually improving B's showed signs of developing a good passing game with a good offensive effort by the Pat DeFilio, Josh Ciampu, Brian Chambers line. Joseph DeMaio also worked hard to get the offensive pressure going. Hustling Mike Cinsullo turned in another strong performance on defense. Goaltender Marc Emond worked to keep his team close with some outstanding saves.

Giasullo leads Redmen

Bob Giasullo had the hot hand dishing out three assists in a game against Reading. Ryan Carrigan started the game with two quick goals. Reading fought back to tie the game in the second at 2-2.

Dennis Barnes and Giasullo set up Marco Bristol to put the Redmen up 3-2 going into the third period. Adam Hill lit up the scoreboard with a nice end to end rush to start a dominating third period. Called up from the P-4 team was Chase Wells. Wells blasted one home on a nice passing play from Junior Wearham and Giasullo.

Chris Beek, David Cabradilla played strong on defense and John Leone and Rich Chambers in goal stopped Reading's attack by allowing only three goals. Matt Belmonte finished the nite off with a goal late in the period with assists to Carrigan and Kevin Zimmerman.

Pee Wee 3 over first place

In an exciting game in the Dual State League this weekend vs Acton/Boxboro, David Buntun scored 1:20 into the game with assist to Ryan Carrigan and Matt Belmonte. Adam Hill played one of the best offense and defense games this year. Hill scored his first on a clearing pass from A/B and blasted it from the point.

His second was on a faceoff where Ryan Carrigan won the draw back to Hill high in the circle and blew it by Acton/Boxboro goalie to the far post. Good back checking by B. Giasullo, K. Zimmerman, C. Wells at center ice stopped A/B attack. Late in the third A/B mounted a strong come back notching two quick goals but the Redmen held on to win 3-2.

Mite Chiefs

The Tewksbury Mite Chiefs youth hockey team won a close game over their hometown rivals the Tewksbury Mite B's by a score of 3-2.

David D'Entremont started the scoring for the Chiefs early in the first period with an assist from Ronny Gordon. Their linemate Danny Grasso played a good game going into the corner for the puck and getting it out in front. Later Chris Roynan had the other two goals for the Chiefs, both unassisted. His wings, Bobby Gibson and Ryan Mounney did a great job keeping the heat on the Braves goalie.

The Chiefs offensive pressure was kept up with the line of Joey Ginsburg, Mike Tobin and Kevin Swansburg on the ice. Defensemen Brandon Cottisaul and Michael Feldhouse played tough "D" all game.

Net minder Andrew McGuinness kept his team on top with some exciting clutch saves.

Mite B's

The scuttlebutt in the Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team's locker room from the coaches was the Wildcats out-skated, out-shot and out-played the Agawam team, they just didn't out-score them.

As previously written about this Mite B team, the whole team is as hard skating as any opponent, most games they are superior. The Cats just seem to have trouble actually getting the puck to cross the crease.

The Wilmington team members can raise their heads high even though a loss. Warren Fitzpatrick scored an unassisted gal in the second to get the Cats on the board after after a scoreless first by Wilmington. Scott Dunnett scored the second Cats goal with helpers going to David Griffin and George Dighton.

The third period action saw Scott Dunnett getting his second of the game. This one was unassisted bid driving end to end. The Cats fourth and final score came from Bobby Sinopoli with assists from Jamie Riopelle and Jay Surianello.

Tim Anderson was superb in net making outstanding saves throughout the game. The score does not tell the goalic story. Anderson couldn't have been asked to do better. The Cats just had rebound problems in this game.

Again this Mite B team played superior game, they just didn't get the breaks. The whole team deserves a star for this effort including Scott Sferazza, Mike Welch, Donny Heenan, Jimmy Fitzpatrick, Joe Pino, Jennifer Corcoran and the much missed Bryant Buck.

PIZZA RESULTS ARE IN

Prince Restaurant is #1

Sal's, Gaetano's, Bertucci's and Louie's get big votes

By PHYLLIS NISSEN

Cheese: it.
Prince: most charming.
Pepperoni: no baloney.
Sal's: sallemujah!
Got the picture?

In by far the largest ever M.E. Award for Excellence in Anything Contest - with 99 pizza spots nominated - the multiple sets of winners are, as follows:

Voters' choices:

The all-time favorite pizza flavors are cheese, pepperoni, and mushroom - followed by veggie, pepper and onion, and about 90 variations thereof. This month's almost 500 voters nominated the following as the area's premier pizza parlors: Gaetano's in Stoneham, Louie's in Woburn (which came in second in our 1988 best cheese pizza contest), and Bertucci's in Woburn with Prince Spaghetti House in Saugus and Sal's Just Pizza Pizzeria in Tewksbury following so closely that they made it into the final count. Unfortunately - to the horror of those involved - Louie's was not open when the pizza was ordered and the judges assembled, leaving everyone open-mouthed. A judgment call had to be made: because Louie's pizza was not available, it could not be included in the final taste test.

Judges' choices:

Chewing it over, mulling it over, practically blindfolded, seven judges took almost an hour, with sips of soda in between to clear their palates (and pepperoni, the tie-breaker, in one case), to decide the following:

Number one: Prince.

Number two: Sal's.

Number three: Gaetano's.

With Bertucci's in Woburn as close as you could get to the final three - and the sentimental vote going to Louie's.

Prize winners:

The grand prize of $100 goes to Matthew Talis of Lynnfield whose favorite kind of pizza is cheese at My Brother's Place in Wakefield. "I am an Italian boy that just likes cheese. Loves a good pizza. I know my pizza," he notes. "I think My Brother's Place has the best pizza. Lots of icky cheese. Not spicy. Not too much green stuff in the sauce."

Debbie Russell of Woburn wins $50 for her choice of cheese ("traditional cheese") as her favorite kind of pizza. "When you start adding a lot of extra 'stuff,' you lose that real pizza taste," she notes. She eats that pizza at the Pasta Pot in Woburn because of "quality, price and most of all, the friendly atmosphere - real home town pizza parlor!"

Carolyn Sylvester of Reading wins $50 for her choice of Prince as the pizza spot to savor. Her favorite pizza is broccoli because it's "nutritious and delicious," and she prefers Prince because of its friendly quick service, excellent pizza crust and variety. "Also," she notes, "you can watch the game on TV."

Readers from approximately 35 towns, ranging from Andover to Byfield, Chelmsford, East Boston, Methuen, Woburn, and more - including the 13-plus Middlesex East towns, and two states (can't you get pizza in New Hampshire?) nominated the places to which, in many cases, they travel miles before they eat.

What do the people say?

"I love veggies," says Christine Donahue of Stoneham. "And Prince has good service." Annie Ternullo of Saugus likes Prince's garlic pizza because "it tastes good" and Prince restaurant because "it is good."

Tracy Barber of Chelsea prefers pepperoni at Prince because Prince is "the best."

"I like crunchie crust and lots of sauce," notes Melisa Duffy of Georgetown. "Very nice people work at Prince and they have the best pan pizza on the northshore."

An entire compliment of Wakefield readers opted for pepperoni, mushroom, ricotta, anchovie, and veggie pizza at Prince because of its "top-notch," "best pizza around" pizza, and excellent staff and atmosphere.

Wilmington, Tewksbury and North Reading readers went wild over Sal's, primarily in its Tewksbury locale.

"The pepperoni is North End style," says Ray Mucinati, Sr. of Tewksbury. "Each pizza is 16 inches in diameter and at least three pounds. And it does not cost an arm and a leg."

"It's delicious," says J. Carter of North Reading, of Sal's spinach and garlic delight. "It's good for you, too. Very tasty and

New England Youth Ensemble to perform

The New England Youth Ensemble, a 45 piece youth orchestra based in Takoma Park, MD, will give a benefit concert at Greater Boston Academy in Stoneham, on November 18, 1995, at 7:30 pm. All proceeds will go to the Academy tuition assistance and capital improvements programs.

The orchestra, founded by Dr. Virginia-Gono Rittenhouse of Sterling, is in its 25th year of operation and has received international acclaim, for its performances in more than 30 countries around the world. Major tours to the former Soviet Union, China, South Africa, and the Middle East in recent years have brought resounding praise to the orchestra whose mission is to bring people together through the medium of the world's great classical music.

The Ensemble is in its seventh year of performing in Carnegie Hall under the baton of John Rutter, one of the premiere choral conductors and composers of today and was the group he chose to perform with in his first and only New England appearance at Mechanics Hall in Worcester in December 1991.

Queen No'or of Jordan requested the Ensemble to perform at the Jerash Music Festival in Jerash, Jordan last summer, an honor granted to no other American group. The Ensemble has a history of such invitations largely because its performers are Christian young people whose lifestyle presents a positive impression wherever they travel. Chinese officials in 1992, for example denied permission to every young Western group except, the Ensemble, to tour their country.

November 18's concert is particularly meaningful to several Stoneham area residents who are alumni of the Youth Ensemble. Dr. Jerry Rittenhouse, now practicing at Boston Regional Medical Center and Winchester Hospital, his wife Lauren Aastrup Rittenhouse, Stoneham. Attorney Kris Asqerisson and his wife Cherie, Susan Shield of North Reading, Kevin Worth of Stoneham, Rondi Aastrup of Woburn, are among fifty area alumni who will perform with the orchestra throughout the evening's concert. Many Ensemble alumni have gone on to illustrious careers in music, but the majority return to music as a means of relaxation and fellowship. This concert will be no exception for performers and audience alike.

Tickets are available at the door: $7 for adults, $3.50 for children 12 and older, free for children under 12. Call 617-665-9053 for more information.

Bye Bye Birdie in Winchester

WINCHESTER COOPERATIVE THEATER WILL PRESENT BYE BYE BIRDIE, the exhilarating 1960's musical. Performances are Friday, November 17 at 7:30 pm; Saturday, November 18 at 2:00 pm and 7:30 pm, and Sunday, November 20 at 2:00 pm at McCall Middle School Auditorium, 458 Main Street, Winchester. Shown in photo are (L) Liz Drummond (Rosie) and Laura Vitale (Mrs. Peterson.)

A group of 80 talented actors and actresses will take to the stage the weekend of November 17 when Senior Cooperative Theater presents Bye Bye Birdie, a joyously, exhilarating musical of the 1960's. Bye Bye Birdie will feature students in grades six through eight in over 15 musical song and dance routines. Auditions were held in September. The 80 talented members of the cast began rehearsing under the direction of Catherine Alexander, the Cooperative Theater's director and co-founder, for three hours, three to four days a week.

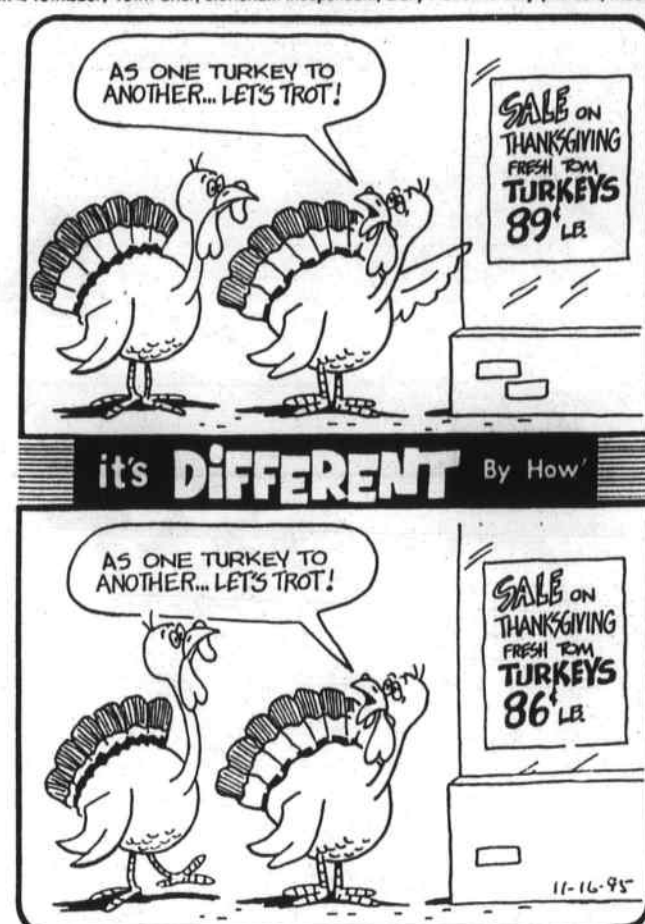

Every student in the cast learned the songs and received training in singing, dancing, and acting. As always in Cooperative Theater productions, the leading roles are double cast, with two young actors and actresses playing each part in separate performances.

The musical accompaniment is under the direction of Carole Davidson, a co-founder with Cathy Alexander. Bye Bye Birdie boasts unforgettable songs that have become favorites including "How Lovely to be a Woman," "One Boy," and "Put on a Happy Face." Bye Bye Birdie pokes amiable fun at one of its era's most striking phenomena - the emergence in the mid 50's of a rock 'n roll star, Elvis Presley, and the near hysteria that swept the nation's youth when it was announced that Presley would be drafted.

Performances are Friday, November 17 at 7:30 pm; Saturday, November 18 at 2:00 pm and 7:30 pm and Sunday, November 19 at 2:00 pm. Tickets for reserved seating are $7.00. Call 721-PLAY. All performances are at McCall Middle School Auditorium, 458 Main Street, Winchester.

Your holiday Traditions are important to M.E.

Are holiday traditions still important? Are they falling by the wayside because we are too busy with our current daily routines?

The Middlesex East Regional Supplement is in search of persons with traditions that capture the wonderful flavor of the holidays.

Remember how it felt on Christmas morning to step around the corner and view that magnificent Christmas tree, filled with presents. The smell of the tree, the twinkling of the lights, and the gathering of friends and family.

These are things that build cherished memories. Family traditions from a time when egg nog was made from eggs and when a friend asked, "How are you?" You didn't answer with a "stressed" or "hectic" or "I'll be glad when it's over".

This year the staff of Middlesex East will be sharing their favorite holiday traditions and special memories in a weekly feature called "Traditions" that will appear during the holiday season.

Please join us and share your cherished memories, too. We

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Sidewalks almost bypassed, now back on line

Side walks

Tewksbury will be building new sidewalks after all.

That's the word in the Tewksbury edition of the "Town Crier," which reports that the Tewksbury Planning Board has a separate account of nearly $20,000 set up for the construction of sidewalks in town.

The $20,000 was collected from builders who seek permission to waive the construction of sidewalks in new subdivisions - if permission is given to forego the sidewalks, the board may then ask for the cost of those sidewalks for the town construction account, according to the "Crier."

Last month, however, sidewalk construction was sidelined because of concern about pay for police traffic details at the roadside work sites. The planning board refused to pay for the details out of the sidewalk account. The town Department of Public Works, which will handle actual construction, also refused to pay for the details which town bylaws require.

The planning board then agreed, for the most part - Chairman Brian O'Connor voted nay - to change its earlier decision and to pay about $500 for a police detail for a new sidewalk on East Street, near the town cemetery; and then voted unanimously to build new sidewalks on Livingston Street, from Main Street to the town park, on the 'airport side' of the road.

Comprised of 53 agencies nationwide, the ICESA is responsible for unemployment insurance programs, federal-state labor market information and oversight of federal jobs training programs. He will continue as DET commissioner while he presides over ICESA.

'Safe neighborhoods' around the corner

Representatives from Malden, Melrose and about 400 other Massachusetts communities met in Boston recently to learn more about the "Safe Neighborhood Initiative: A Model for Communities in the 1990s and Beyond."

Designed to reduce crime and revitalize some of the Boston area's most troubled neighborhoods, the conference at the John F. Kennedy Library - was hosted by state Attorney General Scott Harshbarger; Boston Mayor Thomas Menino; Suffolk County District Attorney Ralph Martin; and Boston Police Commissioner Paul Evans.

SNI was created two years ago by four co-sponsoring agencies, community residents, local businesses, neighborhood organizations, and social service agencies to deal with escalating violence and to improve the quality of life in several

Dorchester neighborhoods. The state conference was held to showcase SNI as a model program to help neighbors throughout the Commonwealth "take back the streets and get back on their feet."

The Woburn link

Under a new proposal by Ward 3 Alderman Scott Galvin, any new retail use in Woburn over 15,000 square feet would be subject to "linkage" through the Woburn redevelopment authority.

According to Galvin, in the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," because large retail uses anywhere in the city will impact the downtown, the city should require the new businesses to donate to a fund which would assist the downtown businesses. The WRA would oversee the funds which could be kept in a trust.

The proposal might have come about, according to the "Times," because of a possible large, new retail use in the northeast corner of the city: a rezoning request before the City Council to turn 30 acres of land in the Industri-Plax site into

Please tell us about your family traditions, special memories of Christmas, Hanukkah, or Thanksgiving, etc. or share with us how you manage to keep the magic and spirit in the holidays.

For example, B.K. from Reading spreads a special picnic retail use by, for example, a Home Depot or a Jordan's Furniture.

Boston and Medford, according to Galvin in the "Times," already have such ordinances.

a slice is one-quarter of a pie. Cost-effective also."

"I just love all that cheese," says Kathy Surran, of Tewksbury. "Just the right sauce and cheese. Very light dough - 19-inch, just $6.39."

"The crust is so good it's like eating breadsticks," says Therese Pazdziorko of Wilmington. "You can tell Sal's uses all fresh ingredients. And the pizzas are huge. Very friendly staff!"

"Sometimes simple pleasures are the best," says Rosemary Crowley of Tewksbury, who prefers cheese. "One size feeds all at $6.39. Great value. For something more personalized, try the 'Salzones.'"

"The pizza man is cute!!" says Lydia Indiciani of Medford, who likes Margarita pizza at Gaetano's in Stoneham.

"When I visit my grandma and grandpa, they always take me to Gaetano's - it's the best!!" say Spencer - and Donovan - Driscoll of Norton.

Suphatchai Doubleday of Stoneham likes Gaetano's because "the atmosphere is very relaxing. Also, it's the only pizza place I can have a beer with my food." Eddy Aprile of Stoneham "loves the manager"; David Harrington of Stoneham likes it because "it is close to home"; Andrew Tringali of Medford likes Gaetano's roasted peppers with anchovies pizza because "it makes you drink more beer"; and Billy Butts of Stoneham would like to alert readers to the following:

"The Deluxe pizza consists of everything!!! If it's in their kitchen, it's on the pizza," he says. "And the olives entertain my three sons. They load them on their fingers and I get to enjoy a quiet meal. The 12-piece extra large deluxe pizza can serve six to eight hungry people for $15.95 and has to be served on a tray stand because of its size! I always order it well done, so it's extra crispy and the cheese is oozing off to my liking. Moms and dads ... don't forget those olives!"

Other voters raved about Gaetano's atmosphere ("cozy," "cool," "pleasant," and "friendly"); the "exceptional lounge," "strolling accordionist," Rose's "smiling face and excellent personality," and the "wonderful presentation" of the food.

Tony Gigante of Wilmington goes for ricotta cheese and roasted pepper pizza at Bertucci's in Woburn. "Their toppings are always the best quality foods available," he says. "Ricotta cheese adds to the taste and is a great accompaniment to the roasted peppers - try it!" At Bertucci's, he adds, the service is good, the pizza is less filling and cooked the way I like it every time.

Vincent Ferlisi of Woburn likes Bertucci's mushroom and onion pizza because of the perfect blend, fresh ingredients, and oven-crisp flavor.

Carol Sampson of Reading likes Bertucci's in Woburn because it is "child-friendly"; and Debbie Kleponis, an eggplant pizza person from Reading says, "The location is great and our family loves the rolls. The kids like to play with the dough while we are waiting for our meal!"

Louie's, a two-time winner, deserves the People's Choice award: Louie's supporters are, by far, the most passionate and loyal.

"Louie's cheese pizza is the original pizza. Everything else is secondary," says John Clifford of Woburn. "It's made the old-fashioned way. He grates his own cheese, makes his own dough and sauce. No subs. No salads. Just pizza. Opens at 4 p.m. Closes when pizza runs out. No delivery."

Yet, when it comes to flavor, freshness, quality, and consistency, Louie's does nothing but deliver:

"Not too many people know but Louie's Pizza makes the best double dough pizza in the state of Massachusetts," says Diane Smith, of Woburn. "I love their pepperoni the best 'cause it's fresh sliced."

"The pizza is always the same," says Mary Landry of Woburn. "Fresh and the sauce has great taste. I've had this pizza since I was a kid."

"Once you've had Louie's pizza, you know you've had the very best," says Nancy Doyle of Woburn.

"It's always fresh - the crust is thin and crispy," says Jeanne Smith of Woburn, "and if he ever retires, I'm giving up pizza. Try him."

"We have even taken Louie's pizza to our son in Kansas when we fly," say the G. Muraco's of Winchester. "We have tried pizza all over the country and find Louie's the best and cheapest."

Sentiments echoed by Carrie Ennion of Billerica, Diana Smith and Frank Lawton of Winchester, Carol Amico of Reading, and 40 years worth of Woburn fans.

"Every time I eat Louie's pizza," says Randy Maciniant of Woburn, "I don't want it to end."

School Notes by Phyllis Nissen

'Rather odd-looking ... in a white coat'

"We still have a very strong stereotype of who is a scientist," said Dr. Susan McGee Bailey, in Winchester recently to address the Winchester League of Women Voters about her findings in the area of gender equity - and inequity.

"It's a man, a rather odd-looking man, in a white coat."

For its report on "How Schools Shortchange Girls and Gender Equity: The Unexamined Basic of School Reform," the American Association of University Women researched three general areas: math and science education among genders, curriculum materials, and classroom interaction.

Bailey told an audience of about 100 that her studies show that more girls are taking - and also mastering - higher level math courses. But fewer girls are enrolling in advanced science courses, such as physics, and even fewer are doing well in such subjects. On the other hand, in the biological sciences, girls and boys are usually equal in terms of classes taken and achievements.

'Possible but not probable'

"John Jones and Jane Smith are registering for classes at Winchester High School," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," in "Talk focuses on how schools shortchange girls."

"John is taking home economics as an elective, while Jane has chosen car repair ... Is this a possibility without anyone questioning the situation?"

"It's possible but not probable," according to Dr. Susan McGee Bailey (see above), who says that despite laws against gender discrimination and numerous reports on the issue, girls and boys are still not treated equally in the public school system.

While 72 percent of public school teachers, for example, are women, the majority of principals, school board officials and state department of education officials across the country is male. This is interesting, she says, in light of the fact that teaching is often considered a woman's profession.

Boys, she says, are not encouraged to take language arts courses and such courses are often associated with girls.

On the other hand, less than 20 percent of girls pursue a science or engineering career, she reports, compared to two-thirds of boys. In talking to students across the country, Bailey found that girls are often encouraged to drop higher level math classes if they are not doing well ... while boys are encouraged to work harder to succeed.

'Downright scary'

Sydelle Pittas of Winchester told those present at the recent Winchester League of Women Voters talk on how schools shortchange girls (see above) that she had participated several years ago in a study of Winchester's textbooks.

"It was downright scary," she says, in the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," "to think of the images being projected."

And she is still concerned about problems which go beyond booklearning.

"Books have changed but educators' attitudes toward children still need adjustment," she says, citing her impression that even today, boys and young men get more of a teacher's attention and time than girls do.

The executive director of Wellesley College's Center for Research on Women agrees, attributing the situation more to teaching style than teacher gender. "This is not something we can change overnight," she says in the "Chronicle," "but it is something we can work on."

'Girls Can'

Melrose High health teacher Andrea Taffe - co-president of the American Association of University Women - will lead a discussion on gender equity, sponsored by the Melrose League of Women Voters, on Thursday, November 16th at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity Church on West Emerson Street. Included in the program are the videos "Shortchanging Girls, Shortchanging America" and "Girls Can."

ANTHONY MANCONI

Bobby Orr said, "Remember, winning is great, but, 'Participating,' being active and having fun, is more important for kids playing any sport."

I remember asking Coach Silvio Cella, "that star quarterback can, 'run, throw a pass and kick the ball a country mile' but, how is he scholastically?" Silvio smiled and said, "Chipper, he makes straight A's but his B's are a little crooked."

For many Italian families, early November was the time of the year to make a barrel or two of wine. My father would buy the grapes in Charlestown, 'squeeze them,' then, about four days later 'press them' and pour the liquid gold into a 50 gallon oak barrel. Our relatives and friends were always too busy to help but 'WOW,' they came out of the woodwork when it was, "Wine tasting time."

I asked my cousin Angelina for a kiss and she exclaimed, Lips that touch wine, will "NEVER," touch mine! "That's O'Kay" I replied, "I don't like kissing anyone with a moustache anyhow."

Chris Corbelle said, "A bulldozer, is a person who 'sleeps' during a long winded political speech."

Folks, why is it that people who snore fall asleep first?

Colors fade, 'temples crumble' and 'empires fall' but, 'wise words' will endure forever. Bob Bonny smiled and said, "That's right Chipper, you can bet that your words in Woodchips will be 'forgotten' tomorrow."

Uncle John Shea made a fortune in his semi annual, 'Going out of business sales.' The sign in his store said, "Use our easy payment plan 100% down and no more payments ever."

Kathy refuses to tell anyone her weight. She prefers to remain, "Enormous."

Angelo Quaganti was two years in the 'fourth grade.' His father was in the 'fifth' and he told Angelo, "if you go ahead of me I'll kill you."

My father was doing great on his citizenship exam until the judge asked a question about "Old Glory" The kind hearted Irish judge tried to help, so asked, "Giovanni, what did you see flying over the courthouse when you came here this morning?" With a smile a mile wide, my father said, "Pigeons," your honor!

Kathy and I went out to dinner. She ordered steak and I ordered a lobster. When the food was served, I said to the waiter, "This lobster has a claw missing." "It was in a fight sir." "Well why didn't you bring me the winner?" "Excuse me sir, but the cook told me to bring it to you another loser."

The Maitre D' asked Kathy as we were leaving the restaurant, "how did you find the steak Ma'am?" "Oh!" It wasn't any problem, I just moved the potato and "THERE" it was." Because, I didn't leave a tip the waiter said to me, "Sir, even a, "Skunk" leaves a Scent."

When Dennis Tully applied for a job in a machine shop he was asked to name the machines he was most familiar with. Dennis replied, "Gumball," "Pinball" and, "Slot Machines."

Tony Stack the Handsome young man from Dublin, Ireland told me that he and his wife Mary are proud parents to five 'daughter' all 'girls'

Kathy said to me, "Chipper if you wash and dry the dishes with me, I'll 'MOP' the floor with you later."

"Hello, Police? Come quick, I want to report a 'burglar' trapped in the Old Ladies 'Home.' "O'K I'll send an officer right away. Who is this calling please?" I'm the burglar, hurry up will you, there's a desperate woman coming after me now!"

"Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls"

"Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls" starring Jim Carrey, Ian McNeice, Simon Callow, Maynard Eziashi, Bob Gunton, Sophie Okonedo, Tommy Davidson, Adewale. Directed and written by Steve Oedekerk. Produced by James G. Robinson.

If there was any justice in the world, Jim Carrey would be watching movies instead of making them.

While his films may not be permanent missteps in the continuation of Western culture, consumers everywhere, especially parents, would be better off if this guy's union card was replaced with a broom. A mean-spirited and annoying Jerry Lewis clone, Carrey has committed the unpardonable cinematic sin of taking $20 million dollars for making a movie in which there is not one single laugh. In fact, this makes it on to my life list of "Worst Movies I've Been Paid to Watch so Other's Won't Have To."

It would be unfair not to report that at a recent screening you could hear children chuckling. But the lowbrow humor is often scatological and disgusting. Parents will probably regret letting their kids see this when they hear the jokes repeated ad nauseam.

For a comedy, this is one draggy flick. Gone is the kinetic, goofy energy of the first "Ace Ventura" movie. Granted, that Carrey outing deserved little critical attention, but at least it had some laughs to it.

Carrey milks every single word in this overblown sequel. There is not a gesture or a syllable that isn't strained and obvious. He is repeatedly shown up by his sidekick, an adorable monkey with a better sense of comedic timing than Carrey.

To be fair, he didn't have much to play with. Writer/director Steve Oedekerk's script is sophomoric and his supporting characters cartoonish. It is sad, and rather embarrassing, to see fine British actors Simon Callow and Ian McNeice appear in such drag.

At the heart of the story is a huge pile of bat guano, which is much more appropriate than it should be. The play, however, is so overblown and convoluted, it ceases making sense and the special effects are hopelessly mundane.

Short Takes

Home for the Holidays is a quirky comedy from director Jodie Foster that is also an unexpectedly honest and poignant portrayal of family relationships. A stressed-out Holly Hunter returns home to her dysfunctional family for a 36-hour holiday reunion she's dreading. Some of her family's strangeness and hostility is humorous and some of it is touching, but Foster makes sure none of it is beyond the pale. Strong performances all around, especially from Hunter and Charles Durning, who plays her sympathetic dad with great warmth. Rated PG-13. ***1/2

A Vampire in Brooklyn begins on a truly frightening note as a body-laden barge crashes into a New York City harbor bearing a suavely sinister Eddie Murphy. The pacing, however, is all off as the movie tries to be both a hip comedy and a chilling creature feature. It looks great as Murphy, Angela

Bassett and Allen Payne turn out effective performances, but director Wes Craven seems to have lost sight of what he wanted the film to be. Rated R. **

Powder may strain toward mythic proportions, but it has no more substance than its wispy name. Sean Patrick Flanery plays an albino teenager who was kept at home all his life, living in the basement like some horrible family secret until discovered by local authorities. The big problem is that we are told things, such as Powder's weird affinity for electricity, but never why. We are also given no emotional connection to this story, which is often strained or unintentionally funny. And then there is that odd albino make-up, which makes Flanery look like a deranged mime instead of a person lacking pigmentation. Rated PG-13. * 1/2

Copycat is another movie about serial killers who stalk women, but this time it is women who set out to catch the psycho. Holly Hunter is both cute and steely as the detective who teams up with criminal psychologist Sigourney Weaver to track a San Francisco-based nut trying to imitate all the "greats" in the serial killer hall of fame. The flick has a neat gimmick involving Weaver and there are several edge-of-your-seat moments, but there is that general problem of relying on a story in which women are mutilated as entertainment. Still, this is a well-acted and well-crafted thriller. Rated R.***

Three Wishes is a minor but cute fairy tale that tries to enchant, but travels down territory everyone but kids may find too familiar. Patrick Swayze is a mysterious drifter who enters the life of a widow and her two sons at a time when they really could use a helping hand. The film makes a good case for listening to your own heart, as the story is set in 1955, when conformity was a way of life. It's also fun to see a traditional European folk tale updated, even if it is a little too white bread and relies on too many cinematic cliches. If nothing else, director Martha Coolidge gives the film a pleasing, slightly magical look. Rated PG. **1/2

*** good ** fair
* poor

TAD makes winter warmer

TAD Resources International announced today it will host its second annual drive in conjunction with the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless to provide winter coats, hats and mittens to some of the more than 24,000 homeless men, woman and children living in Massachusetts.

The drive will be conducted between October 30 and December 1. TAD's employees, clients and the general public are encouraged to donate men's, women's and children's clean winter outerwear during the five week collection.

"With severe winter weather quickly approaching, it is more important than ever that we lend our support to our less fortunate neighbors," said Ann Barabush, Area Vice President for TAD. "Donating a winter coat, hat or mittens is an excellent way for people to make someone else a little warmer this winter and help TAD achieve our goal of collecting 5,000 coats."

The coats donated through TAD to the Mass Coalition for the Homeless, a United Way Agency, will be given to families and shelters throughout Massachusetts. Drop off times are Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 am and 5:30 pm at the following local TAD office:

REAL ESTATE

Build a home addition with a Radon System

If you're considering a major renovation of addition to your home, experts recommend you take the budget-wise and health-saving step of including a radon protection system in your construction plans.

Radon is a colorless, odorless radioactive gas known to cause lung cancer. It occurs from the natural breakdown of uranium found in most soils, and often seeps into homes through cracks and openings in the foundation. Radon-prevention systems redirect radon emissions away from a home's interior to the outdoor air.

"When most people consider a home renovation or remodeling project, they tend to focus on achieving the latest look or interior style," says Jennifer Keller, a radon program manager with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in Washington, D.C. "But for just a few dollars more during construction, consumers can protect their families from the significant health risks of radon. As an added bonus, radon-resistant building techniques can provide energy savings, too."

Because a radon-prevention system involves easily obtainable materials and uncomplicated building techniques, most contractors can carry out the work for $350 to $500 including materials. Understanding how a system works requires little more than a basic look at how radon and buildings affect one another.

Today's most popular home renovation projects frequently offer the chance to easily install a radon system because they involve building a new foundation. This is often the case when homeowners decide to knock out an exterior wall and build a new family room or kitchen-family combination.

In general, the air pressure inside a home is lower than that in the soil around and beneath a house. This pressure difference causes a house to act like a vacuum cleaner, dragging soil air (and radon) into the house through foundation cracks and other openings. Radon-resistant construction creates an actual barrier to radon entry.

Before the foundation is poured or the floor assembly put in place, a four-inch layer of clean gravel or sand is placed on the earth and covered with heavy plastic sheeting. Next, gas-tight vent pipe is embedded into the gravel layer. This pipe runs vertically to the ground, often through an interior wall, and up to the roof. The vent pipe serves to direct the radon from underneath the foundation up the piping and to the outdoors, where it rapidly dissipates.

As a final step, all openings in and around the foundation are sealed and caulked and an electrical junction box is roughed in, should a venting fan be needed in the future.

Radon-prevention systems are rapidly gaining importance with homeowners as the cancer risks of radon become better known. Radon is now the nation's second largest cause of lung cancer (after smoking) and is responsible for an estimated 15,000 deaths each year.

In fact, a growing number of states have now passed legislation to protect consumers from the dangers of elevated radon levels, including mandated testing of homes and disclosure of radon levels before sale transaction; introduction of radon-resistant building codes and certification of radon contractors retrofitting existing homes.

Consumers wishing to learn more about radon should contact their State Radon Office. All offer exceptionally useful information about how to deal with radon in the home, from lists of approved home-testing kits to technical guides and names of certified radon contractors. Most State Radon Offices have toll-free consumer phone lines.

Get a Hepa of help from airborne irritants

When autumn leaves begin to fall, sniffing, sneezing and watery eyes may not be far behind for many Americans. At this time of the year, more than any other, nature bombards us with airborne irritants. Both pollen and mold spore counts soar in fall, when plants mature and autumn leaves lie decaying on the ground. Add dust, and dustmites, cigarette smoke, animal dander and various bacteria, and the air in your home or office may be downright unbreathable.

Many people believe that if they dust and vacuum regularly, they're picking up the worst of it, but the fact is, most airborne contaminants are far too small to be captured by ordinary vacuum filters, or even ordinary air purifiers. What you need, if you want really clean indoor air, is something called true HEPA (High Efficiency Particulate Air) filtration.

Originally developed for use in research labs that require ultrapure air, true HEPA is the kind of filtration doctors recommend for people who suffer from asthma and allergies. An air purifier cannot bear the true HEPA designation unless it can capture 99.97% of particles measuring as small as 0.3 microns, or 12 millionth of an inch. That's about 200 times smaller than the width of a human hair.

Until recently, true HEPA filters were big, cumbersome, industrial looking units that you wouldn't want in the house. But manufacturers are seeing a growing consumer demand for affordable, attractive household HEPA units.

Donald Brown, president of Slant/Fin Corporation in New York, believes that market is going to grow for a long time. "It's an interesting fact that in this country indoor air is often significantly more polluted than the air outside," he says.

"Americans are becoming better informed about air quality issues with every passing day, and they aren't going to be content to breathe indoor air that's not healthy."

Slant/Fin's HEPA Clear Air Purifier will change the air in a standard sized bedroom (10 X13) about 4 times every hour, and can also charge purified air with refreshing negative ions.

Ionization neutralizes cigarette smoke and odors, contributes to reduced stress and may even help you to sleep better. HEPA Clear sells for about $150 at home centers and other large retail stores.

To receive the free consumer information booklet, "Breathing Comfort: What You Need To Know About Respiratory Health," write to Slant/Fin Corporation, 100 Forest Drive, Greenvale, NY 11548 or call toll free 1-800-775-4552.

REAL ESTATE SAMPLER

This Week...
Wilmington

This week's featured home, offered by Carlson Real Estate, is a 27' x 38' Garrison Colonial with a two car garage built on a wooded one acre lot at 304 Woburn Street in North Wilmington. This home was built by Paul K. Butt, Builder, Inc. Throughout all phases of the project, a philosophy of caring for the customer's needs built on a career spanning three decades enters prominently in the planning. Paul's father, William, began building homes in Wilmington fifty years ago, and now Paul's son, John, supervises day to day activities.

Over the years, they have successfully completed a number of residential subdivisions in Wilmington, Reading, and Andover. Prior to Woburn Street, they developed Earles Row at Hamilton Woods, a seventeen lot subdivision of Colonial Homes off Middlesex Avenue (Route 62.)

In today's new home market, more than ever, relationship of trust and respect between builder and customer is a key component of successful custom building.

For Paul K. Butt, Builders, this relationship translates into the best marketing technique, "word of mouth referrals."

The Garrison on Woburn Street is another example of "Code +" building, as exemplified by the construction details that sets it apart. Starting with 3000 lbs. p.s.i. concrete poured and reinforced with steel results in a solid foundation. The sub-floor is 3/4 inch plywood which is glued and ring nailed to avoid floor squeaks. Using 2" by 6" exterior wall construction to beef up the R factor, translates into lower fuel costs for the home owner. A Weil-McLean boiler is typically a standard feature. The windows are consistently a high grade, insulated, double-hung, tilt variety. Soffits in ridge are vented to eliminate ice dams. Red-cedar clapboards are properly flashed and treated with two coats of stain. Another standard feature is the traditional brick fireplace with raised hearth and wood mantle.

This particular home features a smart open floor plan that, in addition to the spacious entranceway, includes a kitchen with custom built oak cabinets, a center island, and recessed lighting. There are sliding doors which connect the eating area to a deck. A large living room with a fireplace, separate dining room, and laundry area with half bath completes the first floor.

The master bedroom area is large, includes ample closet space, and a private bath with skylight and whirlpool tub.

There are two bedrooms, another full bath, and a room adjacent to the master bedroom knife between the outside of the receptacle box and the edge of the drywall. Do this on both sides of the box. The putty knife will go in up to the stud on one side, but on the other side it will not hit the stud. This is the side on which you install the cut-in box.

On the opposite side of the wall, mark and cut the opening for the cut-in box a few inches from the existing box. Run the wire from the existing box to the opening. Push the wires through the cut-in box and install the box in its opening. Now install the receptacle in the box, and check that the receptacle is working properly before installing the cover plate.

When extending the cable along a wall, in most cases, you will have to run the cable from the basement or the attic. Which way you run the cable depends on which is unfinished. If both are unfinished, it's generally easier to work from the basement.

If you work in the attic,

This spacious new garrison colonial home is situated on a lovely wooded acre lot on Woburn Street in Wilmington.

About the town of Wilmington

Located in Middlesex County, Wilmington is home to a population of close to 20,000 people. Its low tax rate ($12.29) is due primarily to the wealth of industry within its town limits. Despite the presence of industry, Wilmington is able to maintain a lovely rural feeling. Interstate 93 intersects Wilmington, affording residents an easy commute to Boston or New Hampshire. Wilmington covers an area of 17.08 square miles. It is governed by Open Town Meeting.

Fishing for cable?

Have you wondered how you might add a switch, light or receptacle to your home with all those finished walls, ceilings and floors concealing the wiring? Well, take heart. With a little careful measuring and a complement of luck, you can easily "fish" cable through ceiling and wall cavities, and with little or no drywall repair.

Fishing cable, as it's known, is not new. Electricians have been upgrading electrical systems in this manner for years, and you can do it, too. Although the job is time-consuming it's not that difficult.

In many cases all you need to fish electrical wire are a cut-in box, sheathed cable, a screwdriver, utility knife, and drywall. In some cases a length of sash chain is handy.

For a short run, a piece of coat-hanger wire will serve as a fish tape. For longer reaches, a factory-made fish tape will save you hours of frustration. It costs about $20.

Fish tape is a thin, coiled steel ribbon that has a hook on one end. It's rigid enough to push through a wall cavity yet flexible enough to make tight radius bends.

Some circuits are easy to expand. If you want to add an interior living room wall, check the wall's back first. In many cases, you can pull power from a bedroom receptacle on the wall's opposite side.

To do this, start by measuring carefully from a common feature on the wall, such as a door. The existing receptacle box will be mounted on a stud. The new box, known as a cut-in box will not be mounted on a stud.

To determine where to put the cut-in box, poke a putty
